Peace Bid Made

LONDON (AP)—Britain launched a New Year's effort for peace in Vietnam Friday night by inviting the United States and North and South Vietnamese governments to a conference on British territory.

The Soviet government was let in on the plan and, by implication, invited to be co-host to the conference or at least to sit in on it. No cognizance was taken of the role China might have in an eventual settlement.

Britain offered the three invited countries help with any necessary preparatory work, which might include a decision on whether the Viet Cong would also be invited.

NOT RECEIVED

The British announced the invitations in a short statement and said the text of messages to U.S. state secretary Dean Rusk and the foreign ministers at Saigon and Hanoi will be made public New Year's Eve. Washington said the British message had not been received Friday night.

There was no immediate response or comment from any of the three governments.

At the state department in Washington, however, an official said the U.S. government has a long-standing policy of readiness to enter discussions.

Truce Goes Bang

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong guerrillas today ambushed two American patrols within two hours of the start of a New Year's cease-fire. The Communists said they would honor the northern province of Quang Ngai, a South Vietnamese soldier was shot by a sniper as he disarmed a booby trap.

Within 20 minutes of the start of the 48-hour truce, Communists hit an American 1st Infantry Division patrol with automatic weapons 20 miles north of Saigon. UPI correspondent David Stuart-Fox reported the infantrymen suffered light casualties.

TWO-HOUR BATTLE

Reinforcements, armed helicopters and artillery were called in to aid the patrol and a battle ensued as the Reds tried to flee. Fighting between the pursuing Americans and Viet Cong rear guard lasted at least two hours.

Communist casualties were not immediately known.

Two hours after the truce began, Red guerrillas attacked a patrol of the 1st Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division about 12 miles southwest of Saigon, a

Franco Fighters Finally Give Up

MALAGA, Spain (AP)—Two brothers who fought for the Republicans in the Spanish Civil War surrendered Friday after hiding for almost 30 years. The three-year conflict ended in 1939.

Police said Juan Hidalgo Espana, 62, and his brother, Manuel, 57, had hidden in the Macharavaya ranch in the resort area of Marbella on the south coast.

Both brothers said they had committed no crimes, political or otherwise, but went into hiding in 1937 when Gen. Francisco Franco's Nationalist troops took Malaga from the Republicans. Both said they had been afraid to come out from hiding. Police referred them to judicial authorities.

Earlier this month, Franco granted a general amnesty to his civil war opponents.

Snow, Cold Hit Rockies

DENVER (UPI)—The third major snow storm in 10 days boiled up in the intermountain region Friday and headed toward the Rockies. Bitter cold from much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

Authority Exceeded

CHIEF JUSTICE STOPS B.C.'s BUGGING PROBE

Wilson

Distraught Father Sees Five Die

blaze Friday, prays amid tears as son James, 5, is carried off in ambulance stretcher.—(AP)

In a judgment handed down Friday afternoon, the chief justice said the government could not legally appoint retired Judge R. A. Sargent of the county court to sit as a one-man commission, under the terms of the provincial Public Inquiries Act.

Chief Justice Wilson's ruling halts the commission's investigation into the bugging of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada's Vancouver convention.

The Canadian union, which maintains the bugging was authorized by an official of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, launched the action to unseat Mr. Sargent two weeks ago.

LEGALITY GROUNDS

They sought to unseat him on grounds that he was improperly appointed commissioner by the cabinet.

The chief justice described the cabinet order-in-council setting up the commission as "the basest sort of order." He said in the judgment he does not feel the inquiry as it was constituted could serve any useful public purpose.

NOT IN ITS POWER

The cabinet, he said, invalidated its order by giving the commission wide terms of reference that were not in its power to grant.

In addition to investigating the convention bugging, Mr. Sargent was empowered to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Lloyd Craig, president of the Canadian union, in a room close to the one that was wired for sound.

POLICE RULING

Mr. Craig died of an apparent heart attack two days previous to the opening of the convention. Police ruled out foul play in Mr. Craig's death.

The commission had heard evidence from several witnesses, including Weldon (Bud) Graham, a private detective who testified he was paid $250 to wire the convention room by Pat O'Neal, western organizer for the international union.

TO BE HEARD

Still to be heard was testimony from two RCMP security and intelligence officers, implicated by Mr. Graham. He said he took the case after being referred to Mr. O'Neal by the RCMP investigators.

The detective claimed the RCMP was interested in the alleged Communist activities of some members of the Canadian union and that he would not have taken the case otherwise.

Province Plans Rapid Revival

Bennett

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett said Friday night the government will act immediately to revive the royal commission studying invasion of privacy through use of electronic bugging devices.

He was commenting, in a telephone interview from Kelowna where he is spending the holidays with his family, on a ruling by B.C. Supreme Court Chief Justice J. O. Wilson which voided the government-appointed commission.

The chief justice's ruling left unanswered the question of where the inquiry will go from here but it suggested that the government could appeal his decision, amend its order-in-council to reconstitute the inquiry or pass legislation which would authorize a new probe.

"I was really pleased that the chief justice suggested alternatives and made suggestions how the government should deal with it," said the premier.

"My recommendation to the cabinet would be that they amend the order as soon as possible even though I would not be there, so that we can proceed with this matter forthwith."

The premier said the government should move "quite

Ship 'Going Down'

Welder Sparks Ship Holocaust

FORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A freighter that had 48,000 gallons of fuel oil aboard despite the fact it was being dismantled caught fire in a huge navy shipyard Friday and sent workers and vessels scurrying for safety. There were no reports of injuries.

A welder apparently cut through into a fuel tank on the ship, touching off the blaze. He was last seen running away from the vessel.

Freighter Plucks Five from Yawl

NEW YORK (AP) — A men from the stricken yawl Petrel Friday. Five other men volunteered to stay aboard the 70-foot yawl until this morning when a U.S. Coast Guard cutter arrives to take the vessel in tow, the coast guard said.

The freighter Cotswold radiated that all 10 Petrel passengers were in satisfactory condition and that it would stand by through the night.

Stripped of her rigging and sails, the Petrel has been at the mercy of the sea since Thursday night. Her auxiliary engine, pumps and radio are dead. Her crew had to use buckets to toss out the icy water as the wind whipped it in.

Dolls 'Not Dangerous' Says Nanaimo Seller

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — The manager of a department store which has sold six dozen of the controversial inflammable dolls, says the dolls are not as dangerous as indicated.

Duane Townsend, manager of Metropolitan Store, said Friday his firm had sold the dolls for several weeks. (See also Page 13.)

He said "too much is being made of the issue."

To prove his point, Mr. Townsend tried to light a doll with a cigarette. "All it did was smoke."

During a doll-burning ceremony Mr. Townsend timed the rate of burning.

"It took five seconds to ignite. A book of matches is more dangerous," he said. This opinion concurred with that of Dominion fire commissioner R. A. W. Switzer, who said in Ottawa:

"They (dolls) will not ignite from the normal sources of heat found in a home."

While more than 60 have been sold from one store in Nanaimo, only six were turned in to the fire hall.

In one experiment here, the dress of a doll was set on fire. But the hair and the face refused to ignite.

The doll had to be turned onto its side to allow flame to play over the hair and face before they would burn.

Mr. Townsend pointed out although the rate of burning is rapid, almost any material in a pressurized can is more volatile.

Nude Girl Discovered Choked by Stocking

VANCOUVER (CP) — The nude body of Vicky Spinder, 19, was found Friday in her West End apartment after she was apparently strangled with a stocking.

Police said the girl, formerly of Kamloops, was probably killed sometime during the night.

The room was described as neat. There were no apparent signs of a struggle.

The body was found by the landlord who checked the suite after noticing the girl had not gone to work, police said.

Police refused to release further details.

Hanoi's War Position Hardening

By K. C. THALER
LONDON (UPI) — Qualified Communist diplomats said Friday Hanoi's position on the Vietnam war is hardening.

Growing opposition to the American escalation of the war from both United States and allied public opinion is vindicating the hard-line faction of the Hanoi government, they said.

Prospects for compromise terms on Vietnam peace talks are more remote than ever in the circumstances, they said.

The hardliners in the North Vietnamese regime of President Ho Chi Minh were said to have considerably strengthened their position and to be firm in the conduct of the war. Their war-cry continues to be: "Americans out."

Recently they had been under some pressure from a rival group led by Pham Van Dong and Vo Nguyen Giap who, while

OPPOSITION

The hardliners were said to feel vindicated, not least by the latest expressions of growing opposition to the war from both American and allied quarters.

Hanoi, in resisting so far peace talks on any other but its own terms, has all along insisted that world public pressure would prove a major factor in its favor.

Communist diplomats are making no secret of their satisfaction over the growing criticism lately of American bombing from within the Western camp, including leading U.S. voices.

NO COMPROMISE

They also made it clear that in the light of these developments nothing short of an unconditional halt of American bombing of North Vietnam would induce Russia and the East European countries to try to mediate, let alone to bring Hanoi to any conference table on its own accord.

With hardliners in full control in Hanoi, neither Moscow nor anybody else would or could attempt to push the North Vietnamese regime into any compromise gesture, they said.

The diplomats said Hanoi is more determined than ever to continue the war — even though it has suffered considerably — to avert the guerrilla tactics going full blast, at least through next year.

Chaplin, who made films in the United States for many years before his voluntary exile, is still a British subject.

Dockworkers Back In Port of Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Saigon port operations returned to normal today within hours of the settlement of a five-day labor dispute between the U.S. army and the Vietnamese dockworkers.

Agreement ending the walkout was reached Friday night. Thousands of dockworkers reported for work at 8 p.m. to start unloading civilian cargo essential to the country's fragile economy.

A formal agreement officially ending the strike was signed today at the Vietnamese labor ministry.

The small, wiry dockworkers walked off their jobs to protest the dismissal of 288 Vietnamese dockworkers from the U.S. Army's new cargo terminal around the bend of the Saigon river from the main port of Saigon.

Under terms of the settlement, strictly military cargo at the new port will be handled exclusively by army stevedores and the laid-off Vietnamese workers will be given employment in the main harbor.

Tray of Rings Disappears

SAIGON (LAT) — A tray carrying $18,000 worth of diamond rings vanished during a bomb scare at a downtown post exchange Friday in a mystery the GIs are already calling Saigon's "Little Brinks Case."

The nickname for the case comes from the fact that the post exchange is located immediately in front of the six-story Brink bachelorette quarters in central Saigon, and is known popularly as the Brinks PX.

Teeny Bikini Too Revealing

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (UPI) — Authorities sent a bikini-clad 18-year-old girl home from the public swimming pool Thursday after she changed into something less revealing.

The same authorities a month earlier ruled people at the pool who lie within less than a foot of each other while sunbathing would be prosecuted on morals charges.

In British Prisons

Income Exceeds Output

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's year-end jailbreak season appears to be near its end.

For the first time in eight days, since an official report said no British prison was secure, the number of recaptured prisoners outnumbered absconders Friday.

While newspaper cartoonists and columnists in Britain and abroad continued to poke fun at the leaky prison system, the traditional pattern of a rash of Christmas breaks followed by surrenders began to reassert itself. Police caught three men on the run Friday, while no escapes were reported.

Of the 44 men who have escaped from prisons and reformatories since Dec. 22, only 13 were still at large Friday night.

Prison officers, stung by criticism and jokes about a situation many of them blame on staff shortages, were expected to intensify their vigilance over the new year.

One of the men recaptured Friday was John Johnson, 30, who was found only 10 miles from the bleak prison of Dartmoor in southwestern England, where he escaped five days ago.

Friday's captures brought to 577 the total caught of 636 persons who have so far escaped from jail in 1966.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS YOUNG

A variety show hosted by Austin Willis and featuring Wayne and Shuster, Gordon Lightfoot and Juliette in an all-star cast who guarantee to open Centennial year with a great big bang. In color... CBC Television 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The Party Pooper

APPARENTLY neither Prime Minister Lester Pearson nor State Secretary Judy LaMarsh is at all upset over the Quebec government's peculiar attitude toward Canada's Centennial celebrations.

Miss LaMarsh, as ministerial head of the nation's 100th birthday arrangements, claims that there is nothing wrong about Quebec's stand on the matter, while Mr. Pearson, as head of the federal government, vigorously denies that Quebec is "opting out."

In fact, the prime minister has gone to some pains to explain that Quebec was definitely going to participate in next year's observation of our first century of independent rule, and that it should not be judged simply on the fact that its provincial government was not going to mark the occasion on New Year's Eve, because neither were the governments of British Columbia, Saskatchewan or Nova Scotia.

However, in drawing comparisons with the other provinces, Mr. Pearson seems to have missed the major point contained in the Quebec government's official announcement on the subject.

According to Quebec's provincial secretary Yves Gabais "there is no room for rejoicing (in Quebec) about Confederation's 100th anniversary. . . . And if that wasn't clear enough M. Gabais added: "Quebec will not participate in the rejoicings."

If, continued M. Gabais, Quebec does take part in any programs at all they will be those that "will allow Quebecers to show themselves as Quebecers."

To this M. Simon-Pierre Rainville, Quebec's centennial director, tackled the final word: "French Canadians," he said, "will mark the centenary by participating in all the programs, but whether it is New Year's Day or July 1 the province does not wish to rejoice."

From these statements it is quite clear that the only centennial programs in which Quebec is prepared to "participate" are those which bring it a big share of federal money or are devoted to demonstrating that Quebecers do not consider themselves Canadians.

Certainly its boorishness in this regard tallies nicely with its grim determination to get its full cut of any or all of the goodies being dispensed by Ottawa to mark the year.

Its all rather like a small, greedy boy who will not go to a birthday party because he doesn't like the host but demands the ice cream and cake just the same.

Innocent and Guilty

WHILE NOT TRYING to justify the United States' policy of bombing North Vietnam—a policy against which there is a mounting opposition even in the United States itself—it seems unfair to accuse American pilots of needlessly killing and maiming civilians.

In the first place, the military targets which are considered valid objectives are reported frequently to have been sited, deliberately or not, in close proximity to dwellings. It is obviously impossible for a bomber to control the blast and inevitable that if civilians are in the neighborhood they will risk death or injury.

Pilots are not infallible. On the sort of missions they are flying over and about Hanoi it can be expected they will sometimes make mistakes. It is not unknown for aircraft to bomb their own countrymen, not only in close combat areas but in fixed and mapped positions.

It is one of the reasons, it is reported, why the Australian troops in Vietnam prefer to operate apart from their American allies, and with their own air support.

However, the punishment inflicted upon civilians by the U.S. aircraft is certainly not intentional, whereas the Viet Cong prosecute their war without discrimination. Indeed, villagers who are suspected of having traffic with the enemy or who are cool to the Viet Cong cause are frequently massacred or kidnapped for forced labor and communist indoctrination. The terrorist raids in Saigon, while they are usually directed against those places inhabited or frequented by American personnel, are not confined to them. It is part of the Viet Cong strategy to discourage resistance in this fashion, just as it is their policy to eliminate the neutrals or those villagers whose only wish is to cultivate their crops in peace.

These lamentable occasions—the bombings, the terror and the rest—are all a part of the cruel pattern of war, even a restricted war.

They are not excusable, but they are inevitable. The only way to stop them is for reasonable men to seek a formula for peace. And towards this end most of the nations of the world continue to lend their persuasions.

A Bright Light

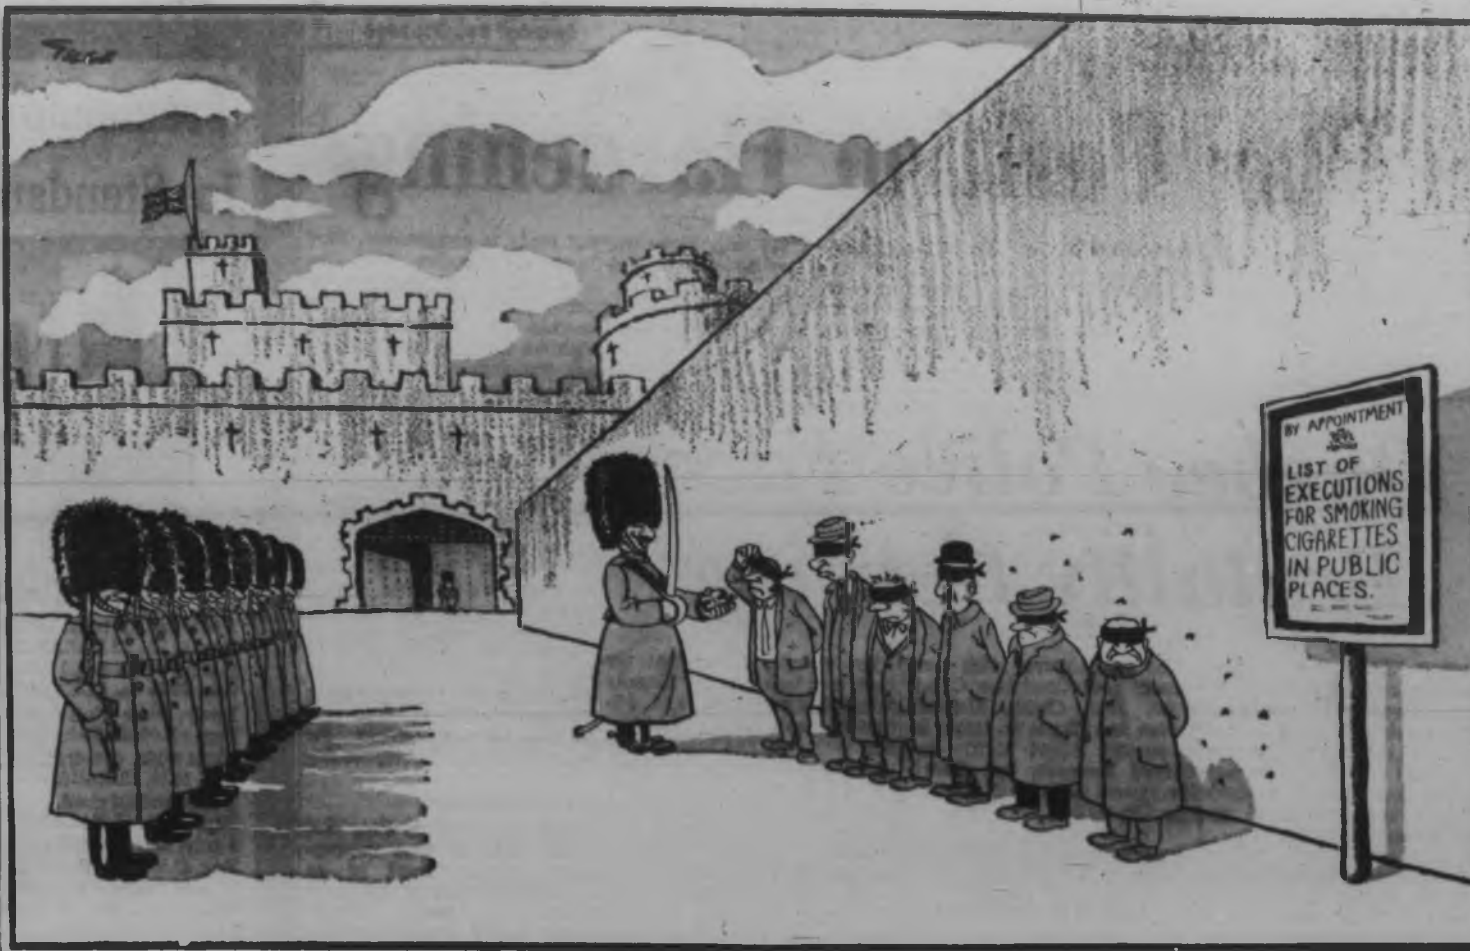

THE RESURGENCE of the British aircraft industry marks one of the brighter lights on the United Kingdom's economic horizon. The industry, so often in the doldrums in the past five years, has suddenly recovered itself with remarkable resilience.

Commenting on the changing situation, the London Sun says: "An end-of-the-year survey reveals a cheerful picture: Orders on hand for more than $3 billion; and workers being taken on instead of being laid off. It is a boost for everyone's morale at a time when the country's morale needs a lift."

Added reason for optimism was the announcement the same day that Britain's air industry expects to be given its largest government contract early in the New Year: an order worth $1,275,000,000 over the next 12 years to develop and manufacture an advanced swing-wing plane for the Royal Air Force.

The order, it is said, may be placed with the British Aircraft Corporation, and it is hoped that the plane will capture a lucrative export market as surveys have shown that there is a world-wide demand for such an aircraft.

The development of this new plane will be of more than passing interest to most Western nations including Canada as its provisional design details show that it will be able to undertake more than 80 per cent of the global tasks of the sophisticated American F-111 at less than half the cost.

"One more won't do you any harm."

Empty Attacks

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

THE great controversy over whether the once family-sponsored book on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy is or is not to be published is an empty one so far as its widely-heralded personal attacks upon President Johnson are concerned.

Among other things, it is precisely these "inaccurate and unfair" references to Mr. Johnson, as Mrs. John F. Kennedy herself honorably describes them, which she now seeks belatedly to have removed from the manuscript.

The simple fact, however, is that very existence of this controversy is giving them a world-wide circulation that could hardly have been made bigger by any number of formal publications. The difference is that passages are being leaked out selectively by various informants, always unidentified, in a process of cumulative innuendo without example in American politics.

Always the circumstances are the same. Some anonymous person "who has read the book" gives the press a tidbit. What emerges is a picture of President Johnson's conduct in the aftermath of the tragedy in Dallas so totally removed from truth as to shock some eyewitnesses who may be critical today of Mr. Johnson's conduct of public affairs but nevertheless cannot stand still for this kind of history.

It is leaked out, by someone, that Mr. Johnson "insisted" after his swearing-in upon taking the presidential and not the vice-presidential plane back to Washington and that this "shocked and infuriated" unnamed persons among the Kennedy entourage. The implication is of a man who has reached the presidency through the death of another and is urgently demanding in his attitude.

The fact is that Mr. Johnson knew that a terrible responsibility lay upon him to keep the continuity of the presidency visibly going without halt in a shocked and desolated nation. It was because he was president that he had to take the presidential plane.

Another leak puts it this way: "When flying back (from Dallas), the Kennedy people did not want to be associated with Johnson people in the plane. A high Kennedy aide went up to a reporter: 'Make sure you report that we rode in the back with our president and not with him.'"

Yet another leak is in this fashion: "There was this feeling among them (some of the Kennedy people) that this was Johnson's state — Texas. They didn't think he had anything to do with it, but he had brought them there. They remembered that it was in Dallas that Adlai Stevenson had been spat upon. The Kennedys felt that Johnson was part of this thing, this conservatism, and there was nothing he could have done to change their minds."

This feeling, of course, overlooked the fact that the assassin was Communist-oriented and surely not "conservative" and that, in all his political life, Dallas had been hostile to Lyndon Johnson.

What in truth all these leaks unconsciously establish is the frightful and hopeless burden that was placed upon the new president. In all the early hours while he was frantically trying to keep the government going to avoid a sense of national rudderlessness, he was continuously and deeply concerned with the understandable grief of the Kennedy followers made every effort to show to them sympathy and understanding.

Those who happened to be close to him in those frightful hours know that this is the truth. This columnist, if a personal reference may be excused, knows this as an eye and ear witness.

There is, moreover, the recent testimony of Charles Roberts, Newsweek's White House correspondent and one of the two reporters present on the flight from Dallas to Washington. Roberts says that he saw no show of insensitivity by LBJ on the plane. "Indeed," Newsweek adds, "to Roberts and others the new president's behavior seemed a matter of restraint and solicitude."

The truth is that Mr. Johnson, in a desperate attempt to avoid any hurt to the Kennedy people as his first act as president resolved to keep on every Kennedy White House aide, not excluding some who had shown contemptuous hostility to him as vice-president during a time in Washington when some of the extremists among the Kennedy cultists amused themselves by sticking pins into a figure labelled "Lyndon."

The night after President Johnson returned here from Dallas he was still occupying a private house as president and was personally telephoning every member of the Kennedy cabinet — and every one of whom, also, he kept on.

In the middle of all this tears were in his eyes at every mention of the name John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

By RICHARD JACKSON, Columnist Ottawa Bureau

THE old year's ending, new almost here: Parliament will survive the year.

Though now and then an elocution

Will echo the Quiet Revolution.

Tories and Grits, as in every year,

Will disagree, that much is clear.

One takes this side, the other that,

Taxpayers wonder where they're at.

Tories attack each Grit measure,

Yet one and all pass at pleasure.

Droning debate, rough or refined,

Will seek in vain the unclosed mind.

The only agreement the year will see

Will be an agreement to disagree.

Triumphs, disasters will appear

On the national scene, tomorrow's year.

The ministry will see nothing funny

In Tory talk of inflated money.

Prices climb, wage boosts quicken,

Which is the egg? Which the chicken?

Sharp Mitchell of Finance

Will leave 'em laughing at Defence.

Charges of bungling and of waste

In too many changes, too much haste,

Too much spent for too little protection,

Tories demand Defence redirection.

But what or where or how? Who knows?

Oppositions live but to oppose.

Tales of trouble, of deportation,

Partisan strife next year will grow.

Grits, top Commons' dogs today,

With welfare abstain hope to stay.

While Tories, claiming resurrection,

Start thinking of the next election;

But surely split, may be glad to wait

Russian Probe

Moon Surface Like Earth's

MOSCOW (AP) — The unmanned Soviet spaceship Luna XIII stopped work after determining with a new device that the moon has a hard surface such as the earth's, the news agency Tass reported Friday.

This suggested that a manned spaceship can be safely landed on the moon and that space-men can move about without sinking.

Luna XIII drifted down on the lunar surface Christmas Eve and made the first-ever test of the soil. It did this by driving in two rods from an arm extending from its side. The rods were fired by a "gunpowder jet device" and went in about a foot, said Tass.

The findings were radioed back to earth and Tass reported they showed the top layer of the moon similar in density to the corresponding layer of the earth.

Luna XIII also confirmed with this device that there is only a small amount of radioactivity on the moon's surface, Tass added.

Luna XIII tended to substantiate conclusions drawn from Luna IX which Feb. 3 became the first spaceship to make a soft landing on the moon. It sent back photographs. The United States duplicated this soft landing later with its Surveyor satellite but neither took soil samples.

Photos taken by all the space-ships show the moon to be barren and rocky.

Luna XH transmitted panoramas shot by a television camera fastened to its exterior. Tass said its landing site had a large quantity of stones amid crater-type formations—but no dust.

Luna XIII marked the final effort in the Soviet space program for 1966, which was concentrated on the moon, Friday's MONTREAL — Georges Lemay was sent to trial on charges of committing a $633,600 bank robbery in 1961. Lemay, 41, was captured in Las Vegas in August after a police chase that included a sensational jail escape. It is not known yet when his case will be heard.

HALIFAX — Premier Stanfield has announced that the Nova Scotia legislature will open a new session Thursday, Feb. 9.

VATICAN CITY — Pietro Cardinal Ciriaci, 81-year-old Italian member of the Vatican Curia and prefect of the congregation of the council, died at his apartment just outside the Vatican after a long illness.

WASHINGTON — The dismissal of Erik Heine's $110,000 slander suit against a U.S. intelligence agent has been appealed. Washington lawyer Ernest Raskauskas said the appeal was filed against the Dec. 8 order that the Toronto man could not sue a self-acknowledged agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency for calling Heine a Soviet security agent.

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul is "pleased" with the initial response of Roman Catholic bishops to his recommendation they retire voluntarily at age 75, a high Vatican source says. The source said "about 60" bishops over that age, including at least eight cardinals, have offered their resignation since the Pope "warmly recommended" it in a decree Aug. 12.

Fireballers Cautioned

Five teenage boys almost blew themselves up Thursday night by using a five-gallon can of gasoline to start a beach bonfire at Ten Mile Point.

The resultant ball of fire and explosion brought Sasatch police to the scene and, although the boys had fled in a car, they were picked up later and given a stern warning in front of their fathers at the police station.

Papers, Union In Agreement

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — A threatened strike against this capital city's two daily newspapers has been called off. A statement, issued by the Charlottetown Typographical Union Inc., said a special membership meeting reached tentative agreement on a company wage proposal.

Bank Robber Takes $1,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — A grey-haired man carrying a small black revolver, possibly a toy, robbed a branch of the Imperial Bank of Commerce of $1,000. The man handed teller Janet Massey, 19, a note demanding cash and fled with the money in a brown paper bag. He recovered the note before fleeing.

Luna XIII Idle

report did not say exactly when Luna XIII finished its work. Luna IX ran out of power after three days.

Unconfirmed reports had circulated here that something spectacular would be attempted with Luna XIII to offset American space successes this year but Luna XIII turned out to be largely a repetition of Luna IX except for the soil-testing experiments.

Luna XIII landed in the Ocean of Storms region about 250 miles from the spot where Luna IX came down. Photographs of the two areas indicate they are similar.

Floating Trade Fair

A floating trade and industrial fair from Japan will visit Vancouver next Aug. 13 to 17. Aboard the Sakura Maru will be exhibited products considered typical of those manufactured in Japan.

The list includes electronic microscopes, electronic computers, musical organs, color television sets, model vessels, automobiles, bicycles, sandwich makers and wrapping machines, plastic injection moulding machines, sewing machines and a number of leisure goods—all products especially selected for use in North America.

Other ports of call on the floating exhibition's list will be Montreal, New York, Houston, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. Products exhibited will represent the latest technical developments of Japanese industry.

"One for the road"...

Fine whisky, in moderation, plays an important part in the art of gracious living.

Knowing when to make a "gracious refusal" plays an equally great part in the art of sensible living.

This is especially true when the New Year's party is breaking up... when you're about to drive home and someone suggests, "How about one for the road?"

This New Year's Eve, if you are doing the driving, say: "Yes, I'll have one for the road. But, please make it coffee!"

Ottawa's Marguerite Hovey views Confederation train model

Train, Caravans

Confederation Story

Long Haul Starts Here

The cross-Canada run of the Confederation train will be launched in Victoria Jan. 9, the first important centennial event of 1967.

Following an inauguration ceremony at the CNR's Point Ellice yards conducted by Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh and attended by federal, provincial and civic dignitaries, the 15-car train will be open to the public for its preview inspection.

Designed to portray the story of Canada "from the Ice Age to the Space Age," the train will be open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily until Jan. 16, when it will move to Nanaimo.

In Nanaimo Jan. 17 to 19, the train will then move to the Mainland for its year-long odyssey in which it will visit 63 cities in nine provinces, stopping from one to 10 days, depending on the size of the city.

Visitors to the train will see and hear graphic depictions of the problems that beset the immigrants to Canada in the disease-ridden ships of the 1860s, or the hardy souls who ventured across Canada in the early wooden colonist carts.

It will not all be sad on the train. The Roaring 20s, the Indian wars, mementos of exploration, the stock crash of 1929 and glimpses of Canada's heroes will play a varying tune in the $1,500,000 museum on wheels.

PROVINCE EXCLUDED

A staff of 22 men will operate the train and seven Mounted Police will maintain security on its cross-country junket. Newfoundland, with its narrow-gauge rails, will be the only province excluded from the itinerary.

EIGHT CARAVANS

In addition to the train, eight truck caravans, each with eight tractor-trailers, will carry Canada's story to the nation. These caravans will split up the provinces, with one caravan taking the bulk of B.C., excluding the northeastern section of the province.

The caravan will make the first of its 98 stops in B.C. at historic Langley on May 1, and will start its Island trek in Sidney May 20 to 22. It will open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

THEY'RE BIG

The tractor-trailers, 73 feet long, 10 feet wide and 12½ feet high, will be the largest ever to travel North American highways, and will have special permission from the provinces to travel the roads.

The caravans will be identical, and will contain a wealth of exhibits of authentic material relating to Canada's historical background, and the nation's varied cultural and technical achievements.

IDENTICAL THEMES

Centennial commission project officer Leslie J. Maiden said of the two exhibits, "We expect that at least 6,000,000 Canadians will see this once-in-a-lifetime display, since both the Confederation train and the caravan will have identical themes which will enable young and old to view Canada from the pre-historic ages to the present day."

Here is the caravan schedule for the Island:

Sidney, May 20 to 22; Sooke, May 23; Colwood, May 26 and 27; Shawnigan Lake, May 28; Duncan, May 30 and 31; Lake Cowichan, June 1; Chemainus, June 2 and 3; Ladysmith, June 4; Parksville, June 5; Qualicum, June 7; Alberni, June 8 to 11; Campbell River, June 13 and 14; Courtenay, June 15 to 17.

The provincial government does not allow any Christmas trees to be taken from its sustained yields forest areas. Road checks are made in December to ensure these areas are protected.

The government does allow the growing and cutting of Christmas trees in areas in the East Kootenay and around Kamloops which are not suited to the growing of mature trees.

But Mr. Williston said trees from these controlled areas are not likely to reach Victoria. Some of the larger Kootenay trees are used to grace public displays in New York City, Washington, D.C., and other parts of the eastern seaboard.

The minister said his department has no information about the number of Christmas trees on the market here and he does not know if there was a substantial surplus this year.

Knifer Sent To Jail

Discipline at sea must be kept at all costs, Magistrate William Ostler said Friday as he sentenced a merchant seaman to six months for knifing a ship's officer on Christmas Eve.

Filipino seaman Abraham Espartero of the Norwegian freighter Utvic, docked at Ogden Point, was found guilty of assault causing bodily harm when he appeared for trial in central magistrate's court.

Bjoern Del, the ship's second officer, had gone to the crew's quarters to wish them a Merry Christmas and had been stabbed in the back.

OUT NEXT DAY

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment and was released the following day.

The wounded officer told court that he had met the accused in a ship's corridor just before entering the mess deck, and had refused to discuss lifeboat procedure with him.

"I told him Christmas Eve was not the time for such a discussion."

NO RETURN

Magistrate Ostler was told by the Utvic's radio officer, representing the captain in court, that the accused would not be allowed back on the ship, which is scheduled to sail Jan. 5.

Crown prosecutor John MacIntyre said he did not think a fine was appropriate, and the magistrate said he had no intention of imposing a fine.

"Ship's officers must be protected from this sort of thing, no matter what port they are in."

"Discipline, of course, is of utmost importance and if crewmen can attack officers aboard ship with impunity, and not be suitably punished, then life at sea would be untenable and impossible."

Two teen-age boys were sentenced Friday afternoon after being convicted of attempted theft.

"I'm not going to allow young toughs to assault women on the streets," the magistrate told Larry Harold Hedch, 18, of 715 Vancouver, as he sentenced him to eight months definite and four months indefinite in the Young Offenders' Unit.

The youth had been charged after a purse-snatching attempt on a 59-year-old woman Dec. 10 while she had been walking in the 500 block Menzies.

HELD ON

The woman had held onto her purse, but had been knocked to the ground by the force used by the youth.

Hedch had been accompanied by Beverly Green, 17, of CPE Esquimalt, when the attempt was made.

Both run when the woman screamed. Green, who was AWOL from the navy at the time of the offence, was sentenced to three months.

John Geddes, 68, no fixed address, was sentenced to four months after pleading guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

Magistrate Ostler said it was miraculous how the accused managed to keep alive.

Geddes has had several convictions for vagrancy this year. The magistrate pointed out to the accused that he appeared to be more physically run down now than when he had made his previous appearances in court.

"I propose to keep you off the streets for the winter months, for the public good and your own good," he said as he passed sentence.

Brian M. Hughes, 317 Dunsmuir, was fined $350 and restricted to driving only during working hours for four months after he pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge.

After being involved in a minor car accident on Dec. 23, he gave a breathalyzer reading of .25.

Coast Guard Year Saw Navigational Pioneering

By BOB PETHICK

In 1966, a year that most Coast Guard officials term "mostly routine," the organization managed to rack up a couple of firsts.

During her Arctic patrol in the summer, the icebreaker Camels became the first ship to circumnavigate King William Island at the easternmost point of her journey.

The icebreaker also sailed north to Bellot Strait, start of the Northwest Passage, for the first time.

NEW SHIPS

Delivery of the first of two weatherships, CCGS Vancouver, took place in midsummer at the same time the CCGS Quadra was launched.

The two $12,000,000 weatherships are to take over duties on weather station Papa, 800 miles in the North Pacific.

Papa is manned at present by two former RCN frigates, the Stonetown and St. Catharines.

RADAR BUGS

The weatherships are considered to be the most sophisticated in their field. In fact, they are so sophisticated that technicians are still adjusting a giant balloon-tracking radar that sits in the district, and return, in stop the 400-foot ship.

Another first for the Coast Guard was the addition to the air fleet of a $350,000 Alouette III helicopter capable of carrying two stretchers in the event of an emergency evacuation from a lighthouse.

The helicopter can fly to Pine Island, the northernmost station hundreds of others.

Christmas Tree Surplus Up to Growers

Only God can make a Christmas tree—but it is the tree's owner who decides whether it is to be cut or left in the ground.

Some people here have expressed concern in the past few days about the number of unsold trees which were still lying around on lots here and there on Christmas day.

They ask: Shouldn't a limit be placed on the number of trees brought into Greater Victoria in view of the fact B.C. is trying hard to reduce waste in the forests?

The expert in this field is Resources Minister Williston, who brought in a new policy this year aimed at making use of every available stock of woods in the forests.

But he says candidly the growers are the only ones who can regulate the flow of Christmas trees on Vancouver Island.

All of the trees which come into Victoria are cut on private land "and I don't know how you can tell a man what he can do on his own land," Mr. Williston said Friday.

The provincial government does not allow any Christmas trees to be taken from its sustained yields forest areas. Road checks are made in December to ensure these areas are protected.

The government does allow the growing and cutting of Christmas trees in areas in the East Kootenay and around Kamloops which are not suited to the growing of mature trees.

But Mr. Williston said trees from these controlled areas are not likely to reach Victoria. Some of the larger Kootenay trees are used to grace public displays in New York City, Washington, D.C., and other parts of the eastern seaboard.

The minister said his department has no information about the number of Christmas trees on the market here and he does not know if there was a substantial surplus this year.

Gift for Bomb Victim

Electronic Hands Offered to Guard

VANCOUVER (CP) — Frank Newton, penitentiary guard maimed by a Christmas parcel bomb, has been offered electronic hands as a gift from a Montreal rehabilitation institute.

Dr. A. C. Pinkerton of the G. F. Strong Rehabilitation Centre in Vancouver said the offer was made by the Rehabilitation Institute of Montreal.

Dr. Pinkerton said if the electronic hands are suitable they could be fitted to the 42-year-old guard in about six weeks.

Newton and his 10-year-old son Norman were injured Dec. 23 when they opened a Christmas parcel containing a bomb. The father lost both hands and the boy an eye in the blast.

Dr. Pinkerton said the electronic hands are suitable in only certain amputation cases. He said they were originally developed in Russia and improved upon by the Montreal Institute and are valued at about $1,000 each.

He said the hands are operated by electrical impulses from muscles in the arm that activate a small motor in the flesh-colored plastic hands.

NO LEADS

Meanwhile, police said they had no leads in their efforts to find the bomber.

Inspector W. R. Morrison, in charge of RCMP crime investigation, said laboratory technicians have not yet completed their analysis of the bomb fragments.

Injured Pair Transferred

PRINCETON (CP) — Percy Genis and Louise Reid, injured when their car plunged over a bank from the Hope-Princeton Highway, were transferred to hospital at Vancouver. Mr. Genis suffered leg injuries and Mrs. Reid a broken leg and hip injuries.

Pilot, Wife Rescued Off B.C.

SANDSPIT (CP) — A B.C. Airlines pilot and his wife were rescued Friday after spending 12 hours afloat in their downed plane in choppy Hecate Strait, off the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Search and Rescue officials said Ted Quesnel and his wife Ursula were taken from the downed plane by a fisheries department vessel led to the scene by a circling RCAF plane.

The single-engine plane made an emergency landing on the strait after running out of fuel while on a flight from the mainland to Sandspit on the Charlotte Islands.

Knox Church Nears Anniversary

Knox Presbyterian Church at 2664 Richmond Road will observe its 75th anniversary on Jan. 8.

The church began in 1891 as a Sunday school meeting place on Stanley Avenue for a group of Christian Endeavor Society members. The first minister was Rev. R. C. Munro who was in charge until 1895. The first congregational meeting was held Jan. 30, 1895.

In 1901, Knox became associated with St. Aidan's, now a United Church, and in 1904 with St. Columba, now Oak Bay United.

FULL-TIME

By 1909 Knox had become separated from these churches and was having paid the mortgage on its property, called Rev. Joseph McCoy as full-time minister. Mr. McCoy was in charge from 1914 to 1927.

The church building on Stanley Avenue was vacated in 1960 and the congregation moved to its present location where a new church was dedicated in October, 1961.

The cornerstone of the new church had been laid in June of the same year by the Rev. W. O. Nugent. Rev. Dr. A. A. Rattray, now of 3937 Telegraph Bay Road, was minister of the church at the time the new church was built. Dr. Rattray has since retired because of ill health.

TOOK FURNITURE

When the congregation moved from what used to be called the Spring Ridge district, it took much of the furniture of the old church and incorporated it in the new.

Pews, communion table, organ and pulpit were kept to act as a reminder of the continuity of the new Knox with its historic past.

OLDEST MEMBER

In the beginning the Christian Endeavor members were the young people of First Presbyterian Church, now First United. When the Methodist and many Presbyterian churches united in day.

Special services in connection with the 75th anniversary will be announced next Saturday.

Improbable Objects Stolen Here

Thieves have taken some improbable objects in Greater Victoria.

Early Wednesday, a 10-foot-long flat-deck trailer valued at $600 was taken from near the Ogden Point grain elevator.

Thursday night, an eight-foot plywood kayak went missing from 1538 Vining.

Friday morning a wallet containing $250 in $10 and $20 bills was taken from a woman's purse in the restroom of a downtown department store.

Bells, Watchnight Services Will Welcome New Year

The new year will be welcomed by many Victoria churches in midnight watchnight services. Those with bells will add a musical note to the occasion.

Central Baptist Church will start its watchnight service at 11 p.m. today. A time of testimony, song and prayer will herald the new year. The public is invited to attend.

New Year's Day services will be held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Robert Hampton will preach in the morning on the subject Building Wisely in '67.

LORD'S SUPPER

In the evening Rev. George Fraser, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church in Duncan, will preach on The Point of No Return. The Lord's Supper will be observed after the evening service.

In the Seventh-day Adventist church at Pandora and Vancouver, Pastor Sebert G. White, assistant minister, will speak on God's Master Plan For Time and Eternity at 11 a.m. today.

At St. John's Anglican Church, Bishop H. D. Martin, former bishop of Saskatchewan, will be the celebrant at the choral communion at 11 a.m. Sunday.

The rector, Canon Graham B. Baker, will preach. Evening worship will be held at 7 p.m. on the new time of 7 p.m.

In St. Aidan's United Church, Rev. A. G. MacLeod will preach on Books, New and Old, at 11 a.m. Sunday. There will be no evening service or Sunday school.

Marjorie Sturgeon will sing Mary's Boy Child and Bert Wilkins will lead the senior choir in the anthem, Lullay, My Lik- ing.

Morning and evening worship in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church this Sunday will be conducted by the minister, Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean. His subjects will be New Year Resolutions in the morning, and At The Gate of the Year, in the evening.

WILD BELLS

David Conrad will sing The Lord Is My Light and the choir will sing Ring Out, Wild Bells, in the morning. Georgina Harper will sing I Shall Not Pass Again This Way and the choir will sing Hail, Gladdening Light, in the evening.

Rev. N. K. Archer will begin the new year with two sermon series—The Beatitudes and Prophecy. The Archer preaches in Stevenson Memorial Baptist Church at 9:30 a.m. and in Emmanuel at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

His morning sermon will be Part One of the Beatitudes, entitled A Paradox. The Purpose of Prophecy is the title of his evening sermon in Emmanuel. There will be a watchnight and communion service in that church at 11:15 p.m. today.

"We stand on the threshold of the year 1967 with emotions which are both appealing and terrifying," Rev. John A. Watson of First Baptist Church said Friday.

'FACE FUTURE'

"The year 1966 is now behind us. We must leave it behind and face the future, for no matter how we feel about it, it will not go away nor can we turn from it. We must therefore hear again the Word that comes from Eternity. Here we receive the Light which will enable us to go forward into the new year."

Unitarian Rite Thursday

There will be no services in The Unitarian Church of Victoria until 6:15 p.m. Thursday when Rev. Marvyn Evans' topic will be Some Thoughts on the Urge to Kill. He will repeat the sermon at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Jan. 8.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Jesus grew up in a miserable little town, Nazareth. One of his disciples had asked cynically, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

The people who first came to celebrate his birth were shepherds, who were untouchables, ceremonially unclean. A rabbinical precept warned, "Let no man make his son a multerer, a camel-driver, a barber, a sailor, a shepherd, or an innkeeper, forasmuch as their crafts are the crafts of robbers."

Jesus was born in a stable. Now the inns of that ancient world were filthy enough, but the stables were unspeakably foul.

All these places and persons, however, Jesus transformed into radiant beauty. Emily Dickenson said of a man, "He danced along the dingy ways." So Jesus went through the dingy ways of life, turning water into wine.

Blessed Insanity

A book was written about "The Insanity of Jesus." Blessed insanity, which made the world young, turned sorrow into laughter, and flooded every dark corner with the bright purity of the light of God.

Browning described the coming of Christ into life like an experience he had in Naples: "I stood at Naples once, a night so dark."

I could have scarce conjectured there was earth
Anywhere, sky or sea or world at all:

But the night's black was burst through by a blaze . . .
There lay the city thick and plain with spires,

Flesh and Spirit

Jesus did not underrate the importance of material things. Christianity has been called the most materialistic of all religions. Christianity is not otherworldly, but spiritualizes the material and materializes the spirit. Both are necessary — flesh and spirit.

But Jesus had a detachment from the material and "sat loosely" to earthly possessions.

Also Jesus had supreme confidence in the victory of the will and purposes of God. Life had a meaning and purpose. He had come from God and was going to God. Before His death Jesus said to his disciples, "In the world ye shall have tribulation, but he of good cheer, I have overcome the world." He promised the disciples, "Your joy no man taketh from you."

Canada—Where People Dream and Build

OTTAWA (CP) — A centennial declaration signed by 32 faiths greets a century of Confederation and "the splendor of its heritage and growth."

The 183-word declaration is to be given its first ceremonial reading Sunday at the dedication of the Confederation Train here.

Formal copies have been sent to clergymen across Canada with the recommendation that the message be read publicly early in January.

"You might invite a minister or layman of another faith to read it," they are advised. "It could even be read in union by a group of representatives of different faiths."

A committee of the Canadian Interfaith Conference produced the finely-worded message.

The names of 32 of the 34 member faiths appear below the six-paragraph text, set out side by side in French and English.

The Moravian and Swedish Lutheran faiths joined the conference too late to be included but conference officials here said they also endorse it.

Governor-General and Mme.

Vander as patrons support the declaration with their signatures.

The text:

"In this Centennial of Confederation, the people of Canada look back with humility and thanksgiving upon the splendor of its heritage and growth, its basic freedoms and spiritual and moral foundations."

"Canada is a country of challenge and opportunity, a land of great beauty, filled with natural resources; but above all, a place where people live and work with wisdom and understanding, love, labor and build, dream and plan, free to fulfill their destiny under God."

"We are a people of many origins, cultures, traditions and religious faiths, sharing a common country."

"We pray that we shall grow in brotherhood, without fear, without arrogance, without servility, in constant pursuit of righteousness."

"We pray that we shall not think of ourselves alone, but of all the people of the world; that we shall act within the family of nations with love and generosity, with dignity and pride, with wisdom and understanding, love, labor and build, dream and plan, free to fulfill their destiny under God."

"Thus, in gratitude for the blessings of the past, and in hope for the future, we do proclaim this historic year, 1967, as one of thanksgiving, prayer and celebration to commemorate the Centennial of Confederation."

Names of faiths appearing on the declaration are:

Anglican Church of Canada; Baptist Federation of Canada; Buddhist Churches of Canada; Byelorussian Autocephalous Orthodox Church; Canadian Jewish Congress; Canadian Unitarian Council; Canadian Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends; Christian and Missionary Alliance in Canada; Christian Science Churches of Christ (Disciples); Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints; Church of the Nazarene;

Quiet Demise

Old Ban Lifting; U.S. Catholics May Now Join Y

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholicism's long-standing ban against membership in the Young Men's and Women's Christian Association appears headed for a quiet demise in the United States. It already has been specifically rescinded in some dioceses.

Numerous Catholic appraisals lately have expressed an approving view of participation in the YMCA and the YWCA.

"Indications of the change are coming from all around the National YMCA office. It's a kind of de facto thing, developing more and more extensively."

SERVICE FRAINED

Lifting the ban this fall in New Orleans, Archbishop Philip M. Hannan praised the Ys for their community service, and said Catholics were permitted to join.

He said the step was aimed at strengthening fraternal relationships, and that the Ys seek to uphold Christianity in its "generic sense" and not as a particularly Protestant group.

In a similar action in New Mexico, a spokesman for Santa Fe's Archbishop James Peter Davis said: "The programs of the YMCA can help to make of a good Baptist a better one, and of a good Catholic a better one."

The ban against Catholic membership in the Ys dates back to a Vatican directive of 1920, when Ys were largely Protestant in orientation. But there have been changes since then, both in broadening the basis of the Ys, and in the shift of Roman Catholicism to closer links with other Christians.

Rt. Rev. J. D. Conway of Davenport, Iowa, a Catholic canon law expert, was asked recently if Catholics could join the Y.

NO REASON

He replied in a question-and-answer column he writes for the Catholic publications: "The Y may show different characteristics in different areas of the country, but I can see no reason why a Catholic should not belong to the Y in my own home town. I believe the past warnings of the Holy See in this matter lose force in the light of the second Vatican council."

Despite the general Vatican admonition, membership in the Y for years has included many Catholic laymen, both in local participation and on national and international boards.

Ministers' Schools Across Canada Scored by Anglican

TORONTO (CP) — An Anglican theology professor says Protestant theological schools in Canada provide "grossly inadequate and shoddy training."

Rev. C. E. Felding, who teaches moral theology at the Anglican Church's Trinity College here, said in an interview that Protestant theological training is organized in an "impractical and wasteful system."

None of the 23 institutions across Canada is large enough to provide education for today's Christian ministry, he said.

FIVE DENOMINATIONS

Nor are they "on par with other professional schools in Canadian universities."

The schools that drew Dr. Felding's ire belong to the five major Protestant denominations — United, Anglican, Presbyterian, Baptist and Lutheran.

He said two schools, St. John's at Winnipeg and Bishop's at Lennoxville, Que., have less than 10 pupils.

CUT SCHOOLS TO FIVE

The 667 persons now studying theology should be educated in only five schools connected with universities in major cities.

"Too much theological education assumes that all we need is the correct faith — usually as it was interpreted yesterday — and the capacity to shout louder to people who are no longer within earshot."

Major Gains Noted In Nazarene Church

The two churches of the Nazarene in Greater Victoria have reported great strides in 1966.

The two churches, First Church at Kings and Quadra and Esquimalt Church on Craigflower, will hold a joint New Year's watchnight service starting at 11 p.m. today in the Kings and Quadra Church.

Rev. William Bahan will conduct the service and Rev. Norman Falk will bring a special message.

COMMUNION SERVICE

During the service, testimonials will be given of past spiritual blessings and pledges of dedication will be made for the coming year. Communion will be held at the end of the service.

Mr. Bahan, the minister of First Church reported Friday that during 1966 his church has liquidated its debt and renovations and improvements have been made.

Rev. William Bahan

NEARLY DOUBLED

"Plans now are being discussed to expand our facilities in the coming year," he said. "Finances and attendance have nearly doubled in the past two years."

Mr. Falk, who came from Rocky Mountain House, Alta., to take up his new charge last summer, reported "an aggressive youth program on Tuesday nights with more than 40 in attendance."

EXPANSION NEEDED

"Our Sunday school and church facilities have been worked to the limit and we must do something to expand to meet the needs of our growing congregation," he added.

The Church of the Nazarene, with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., reported a net gain of 7,774 members in 1966, bringing the world membership to 432,717. This is more than double the membership in 1946.

GIVING INCREASES

The per capita giving within the church in 1966 reached a record $179.70, an increase of $11.37 over the previous year.

The missionary program of the church reaches into 47 nations of the world. More than 600 full-time missionaries and 2,100 national workers are supported from an annual missionary budget of $5,000,000.

A new missionary hospital has just been completed in New Guinea and will be dedicated in February.

The church missionary society raised a total of $215,477 toward its cost.

Christmas Cards Sought For Overseas Pleasure

It's the time of year again when Mrs. H. A. Arnold of 30 Howe Street collects Christmas cards to send to India, Bolivia and Taiwan.

"Actually," Mrs. Arnold said Friday, "the cards are welcome any time of the year, not just at Christmas."

But this is the time when people take them to her house in the greatest volume. In 1965 she sent 400,000 cards to the three countries.

PLEASURE INVOLVED

"I'd like Victoria people to know just how much pleasure these cards take with them to the people of these countries," she said.

Coaches Ignore Buffalo Weather

BUFFALO (CP)—Everybody is talking about the weather but coaches Joe Collier of Buffalo Bills and Hank Stram of Kansas City Chiefs don't plan to do anything about it as they put the final touches on their teams' plays for the American Football League title game Sunday.

HE KNOWS

"I can tell you what it will be like," said Collier Friday. "I don't believe the temperature will be over 20 and I know the field will be frozen. That's the way it usually is in Buffalo this time of year."

The United States weather bureau went along with Collier's forecast Friday, calling for snow flurries Saturday with temperatures ranging from a low of five degrees to a high of 20 through most of northern New York state.

The Bills, shooting for a third consecutive AFL title, broke training camp Friday and flew into Buffalo. The Chiefs continue drilling in Kansas City and were scheduled to fly to Buffalo today.

The Chiefs are expected to rely on an explosive offense combining the passing of Len Dawson, the running of Curt Clinton and Mike Garrett and the receiving of Otis Taylor and Chris Burford.

Dawson led the Chiefs to first place in the Western Division by completing 56 per cent of his passes, averaging 8.9 yards a completion and tossing for 26 touchdowns.

Garrett led the Chiefs rushing with 801 yards and a 5.45-yard average. Clinton gained 540 yards for a 3.86 average.

RELY ON DEFENCE

The Bills, first in the Eastern Division, have a strong defensive team but the passing of quarterback Jack Kemp was no match for Dawson's record during the schedule. Kemp, not always consistent, finished seventh in passing in the league, completing 42 per cent of his passes for only 11 touchdowns.

His top receiver was flanker Elbert Dubeau with 50 catches for 747 yards.

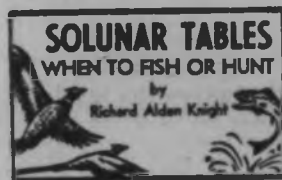

Buffalo's leading rusher was rookie Bobby Burnett who gained 766 yards for a 4.1-yard average.

Different in Dallas

In Dallas, fans who can't get into stadium will be the losers. Instead of being outside on a balmy afternoon they'll have to watch their beloved Cowboys inside. About 1,500 of them will be guests of Chamber of Commerce in Sherman, Tex., because Dallas-Fort Worth area has television blackout. They were getting things ready in Sherman yesterday. — (AP)

DALLAS (CP)—Dallas Cowboys have been pretending to play it cool in the face of their National Football League title game against Green Bay Packers Sunday, but fullback Don Perkins Friday let the cat out of the bag.

"I don't think we're so relaxed," he said. "We've been fighting this thing for a week and a half. I think it sits us a little when we read that we are underdogs. We'll all be glad when Sunday is here. We've been thinking about it for weeks. Time is dragging."

The Cowboys, who are one-touchdown underdogs, and the Packers are probably thinking about the money they can make by winning. Each winning player collects $3,000 and gets a crack at a $15,000 payoff in the Super Bowl game against the American Football League champion Jan. 15 in Los Angeles. Losing players Sunday each collect $7,500.

TWO BIG ONES

It's difficult to be relaxed in Dallas this weekend anyway. Football is at a fever pitch with two big games scheduled. Today's Cotton Bowl game between Southern Methodist University and University of Georgia has been sold out for more than a week. So has Sunday's NFL game.

Dallas defeated Cleveland Browns 26-14 Nov. 24. The Packers, defending champions, left their training camp in Tulsa Friday morning and headed right out to a high school field for drills as soon as they hit Dallas. Their work-outs in Tulsa have been handicapped by freezing weather and snow all week.

Both teams were due to loosen up with light practice sessions today.

Esquimalt Students Take Bonspiel Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jim Armstrong of Victoria skipped a rink of schoolmates from Esquimalt High School to victory in the senior boys' 'A' event in the Pacific Coast Curling Association junior bonspiel Friday.

His rink of Gordie Patterson, Keith Hoey and Torrey Gillett beat Grant McDermid of Capilano with James Ferguson, Robert Munro and Doug Alley 7-5.

Armstrong was last year's runner-up and zone and regional high school finalist.

In the semis, Brock Giles of Hollyburn was a big threat as he went to a two-point lead over Armstrong going into the last end. Armstrong then came up with a double takeout and counted three for the win.

In 'B' event, Barry Armstrong of Hollyburn, with Frank Groff, Stu Wood and Howie Stevens beat Brian Chadwick's rink from Burnaby, consisting of Brian Erhardt, Jeff Hurst and Jim May. The score was 9-3.

In 'C' event, the winner was the Duncan rink of Bert Wright, fielding Brian Benke, Brian Dewar, and Rick Brownsey. They won, 11-4, over Port Alberni's representatives, Jim White skipping for Arthur Paul, Lloyd Johnson and George Paul.

This was one of the upsets of the bonspiel. White has been unbeaten this year and is fav-

Centennial Tournament Testing Birthday Party

By WALTER KREVENCHUK

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has arranged a tough birthday party for Canada's national team.

It has invited Russia, Czechoslovakia and the United States to a centennial tournament, a six-day round-robin which starts New Year's Day.

The Czechs and Russians have been basking Canadian clubs for some five years now, relegating the birthplace of hockey to also-ran status in world amateur ranks.

SIGNS OF CHANGE

But there are signs of change and the tournament should sketch a clear picture of Canada's hopes in the 1967 world championships in Vienna.

The well-balanced Czechs, who open the tournament against Canada Sunday, rate a "strong" tag from the experts.

TROUBLES HERE?

But the word from Moscow is that the defending world champion Soviet team which tackles the U.S. Monday, has problems.

Vadim Krivenko, sports commentator for Novosti press agency, reporting on a recent four-game series in which Russia permitted 17 goals by Sweden and Czechoslovakia, said the veterans—particularly the defence—have lost speed.

PLAYERS CRITICIZED

Reproached for a bad showing were Igor Romashinsky, Alexander Ragulin, Oleg Zaitsev and Vyacheslav Zhidkov.

Soviet coach Arkady Chernyshev said:

"We pursued the object of trying out our young replacements. This may, in the future, spell some defeats for us, but we must have an absolutely clear picture of our strength before entering the world championships.

Soviet replacements come from the country's B team; and that's where Canada's brighter future comes in.

REASON TO HOPE

In December, the Canadian Nationals swept the Soviet B squad 7-3, 5-2 and 6-1—a morale-boosting feat for a team that had beaten Russian opponents just once in 19 previous matches since 1963.

Vaclav Nedomansky, powerfully-built Czech centre on New York Rangers National Hockey League protected list, appraised Canada this way:

"We feel they will be much better than last year"—when they lost 2-1 to Czechoslovakia and 3-0 to Russia in the world championships at Ljubljana, Yugoslavia.

LOW ON THE POLE

The Americans, who tangled with Canada Tuesday, rate low on the totem pole after five defeats and a draw in six meetings with their northern counterpart.

Canada's nationals gained strength in December with the arrival of Carl Brewer, a veteran NHL defenceman who was released by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Adjusting promptly to the techniques of rearward participation, Gary Berg, Jack Bowman, Paul Conlin, Barry MacKenzie, and Terry O'Malley, Brewer collected 10 points in five games.

The most obvious improvement for Canada has been in the primary art of forechecking, as efficiently practised by veterans Roger Bourbonnais, Ray Carleton, Gary Dineen and Marshall Johnston.

If that checking stands up, it could stave off the Soviet for-precision passing between forwards highly-trained in positional hockey.

But the biggest Canadian success story is Billy MacMillan, a 24-year-old forward from the midwest province.

PROLIFIC SCORER

The Charlottetown kid, who forms a unit with Dineen and Jean Chason of Quebec City, rammed home 18 goals as the Nationals collected 21 victories and two draws in their first 24 exhibition games.

The Czechs, who face Russia Wednesday, will depend on the international experience of goaltender Vladimir Dzurila, defencemen Rudolf Fotsch and Jan Suchy, high-scoring forward Stanislav Pryl, Frantisek Sevcik, Jan Klapac, Joseph Cerny and Nedomansky. But they will also test four rookies, probably to a greater extent against the U.S. Thursday.

Russia, in the tournament windup against Canada on Friday, will employ four lines or "troikas," as Soviet commentators like to call them.

MISS KONSTANTIN

The No. 1 trio consists of Alexander Almetov, Veniamin Alexandrov and Alexei Ionov. Ionov replaces Konstantin Loktev, the retired forward raised as the best at Ljubljana, and there's doubt whether he can fully fill Loktev's shoes.

Tournament chairman Bud Holohan, who has put up the sold-out sign for the Soviet-Canada clash, reports the three games involving Canada will be carried live on the CTV national network.

Buckaroos Calm Down Canucks Just Make It

Portland Buckaroos settled down Friday night after an unsettled first period to end their second two-game losing streak of the season with a 6-4 victory over Oakland Seals.

Victory kept the Buckaroos nine points ahead in the Western Hockey League as Vancouver Canucks strengthened their grip on second place with a 2-1 win over San Diego Gulls.

SOMEONE WAS ANGRY

Ahead twice in the first period but ending it trailing by 2-3 as bench penalties only 28 seconds apart indicated they didn't think things were going just right, the Buckaroos were settled down for the second period.

They popped in two goals, added another pair in the third period to get enough for a defence which has been scored on 15 times in the last three games.

STOLE THE SHOW

Defenceman Connie Madigan was a featured performer. He scored the Buckaroos' first two goals, set up their fourth, had a fight with Charlie Burns and also got a minor penalty. Bill

Saunders also scored twice for the winners.

In Vancouver, the Canucks finally overcame the superb goaling of Les Binkley, who made more than 30 stops in protecting a 1-0 lead before he yielded in the third period.

Penalty-killer Len Haley scored for the Gulls midway through the first period.

Criticism Surprise To Curtis

Reeve Hugh Curtis said Friday he's surprised an employee of Esquimalt has chosen to criticize Saanich's administration. He was commenting on the observations of J. J. Ianarelli, manager of Esquimalt's Sports Centre, who said there was too much talk and not enough action on Saanich's recreation problems.

The reeve said Mr. Ianarelli's comments, because they criticized a policy-making body, were "improper."

Reeve Curtis added: "He should realize a community's recreational needs are exceedingly complicated. Saanich knew it needed a professional viewpoint of what it has and needs and this report has been in our hands only 12 days."

There has been a reduction recently in the noise level caused by Victoria Plywood Ltd., a spokesman for people in the district said Friday.

Capt. W. B. Holmes, 157 View Royal Avenue, who complained to the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health early in December, said he believes the firm is making some effort to bring down the decibel level, but it still is bad on occasions.

Robert McGimpsey, 16, of 5026 Lochside, is still in critical condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital following a motorcycle accident Tuesday.

Hospital spokesmen said the youth remains unconscious with severe head injuries.

Graduating youth group members of Toastmasters International will receive certificates from Victoria Mayor Hugh Stephen Jan. 11 in the Empress Hotel.

The six graduates, members of Club 46 of the Victoria Senior Secondary School Youth Leadership Program, will be the first in B.C. to graduate under the youth program, sponsored locally by Toastmasters Thunderbird Club 369.

Falling Steel Pins Worker

A young steel stacker remains in critical condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with massive internal injuries after being crushed Thursday by a leaning 5,000-pound sheet of steel which fell from a crane lift at Yarrow's Ltd.

William Badenoch, 23, of 334 John Street, was directing unloading of two 5,000-pound sheets of steel being carried from a trailer by a 10-ton crane when one of the sheets struck an out-jutting piece of stored steel and the crane let go.

One of the sheets fell into an empty space and the other pinned Mr. Badenoch as it swung from a vertical to horizontal position.

Officials from the union and Workers' Compensation Board immediately set about discovering the cause of the accident.

Road Toll Cut Down

Death toll on B.C.'s highways and streets was below the figure expected during the Christmas weekend—and police and safety officials plan, by close checking, to keep it that way through the New Year weekend, December toll is only half that of December, 1965.

Boilermakers' Union, after a talk with management, told the Colanist the crane was carrying two plates instead of one.

"The dogs were set for one plate," he said. "Now (after the accident) there is an order to carry only one."

Mr. Hindle said he had always favored the idea of a government safety inspector on a full-time basis.

"There is enough industry to warrant a full-time inspector," he said.

He said he did not intend his remarks as "anything personal" toward the company's safety man, Hugh McKenzie.

"He has plenty of experience but maybe too many jobs," he said.

Mr. Badenoch had been slight-

Ready for Big Beginning

Victoria's civic leaders and centennial officials will lead tonight's joyful "bringing in the New Year" celebrations on Causeway floats at Inner Harbor. Centennial official Jerry Gosley gives preview of hundreds of helium-filled balloons which will be freed seconds before midnight. Fireworks, church bells, spotlights, martial and bagpipe music and side-wheel steamer will add color to the event. — (Robin Clarke)

Liquor Outlets Close

The seven Victoria liquor stores will close at 6 p.m. today, New Year's Eve, and remain closed until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Beer parlors and cocktail lounges will remain open, depending on trade, until midnight tonight, and will be open as usual Monday.

Victoria Picture Bright

Plenty of Work Here

Tight money and labor disputes notwithstanding, employment conditions in Greater Victoria continued to show steady improvement during the year 1966, Canada Manpower Council manager George Davis said Friday.

A general feeling of optimism prevailed as the year drew to a close, particularly in Victoria's tourist-led retail and service trades, Mr. Davis said.

Lay-offs expected during January in the tourist-oriented trades will be mainly housewives, who work only two or three days a week.

Reviewing the year, the bureau manager said a setback earlier, when export demand weakened, but only one mill was forced to shut down.

The lack of available mortgage money reduced the number of houses under construction, Mr. Davis said, but larger projects continued. The carpenters' strike during the summer affected men in supporting trades, but the majority are back on the job.

Recent mortgage money relaxation coupled with loans being called for large projects points to an early resumption of full work in the construction field, he said.

The shipyards are maintaining good crews and have several months work ahead of them.

The unemployment figure in Victoria at the end of the year, today, is 3,278—291 lower than last year.

Last year started with 3,569 unemployed, increasing to 4,837 by the end of January and dropping to its low point in July with 2,776 out of work.

Many Found on Island

Fire Halls Put Torch to Dolls

The incendiary blonde dolls that burst into searing flames on exposure to fire have been turning up in hundreds throughout British Columbia since Fire Marshal Basil Nilson issued his warning Thursday.

So far the inflammable dolls have been found at a number of Island centres.

Nanaimo, Victoria, and Port Alberni all report the dangerous toys as having been turned in at fire halls.

They have also been reported at Prince George, Vancouver, North Vancouver, Delta, Burnaby, Kelowna, Trail and Dawson Creek.

Phone calls jammed both incoming lines at Victoria's Yates Street fire hall all day Friday as worried parents sought advice on incendiary dolls.

Deputy Fire Chief Eric Simmons said 31 of the highly inflammable dolls were turned in at his office Friday but he said he expects many more.

Mr. Simmons said, "They have been coming in from all parts of Greater Victoria and some have been bought right here in Victoria."

In a test carried out at the fire hall Thursday the deputy chief demonstrated how the faces of these dolls burst into flames on contact with fire.

He explained the dolls, of European manufacture, had faces made of nitro cellulose, a highly inflammable compound. A number of the parents who checked at the fire hall Friday reported their children had been sent the dolls as Christmas gifts.

Mr. Simmons said, "We found a retail outlet in the city today which had sold 56 of these dolls and still had 52 in stock which were being sent back to the distributor."

In an effort to make certain no other dolls of this type are on sale in the Victoria area fire department inspectors toured stores again Friday.

Two of the danger dolls, of Polish manufacture were turned in at the Port Alberni fire hall for destruction.

Fire Chief Maurice Smith said both have been mailed from the U.S. as presents. The fire chief has issued an appeal to all Alberni Valley residents to bring in suspect toys for examination.

The Victoria fire department said some of the dolls brought in for checking and found dangerous were as much as five years old.

Mr. Simmons said that while there were style and dress changes they were all basically the same inflammable doll. They all had the same type of incendiary nitro cellulose faces and inflammable hair.

Mrs. Hugh Smith, 2313 Central, said she had found one of the dolls under her child's crib near a heat vent. She said "It may not have been dangerous but it certainly gave me the creeps thinking what might have happened." It was turned in at the fire hall for destruction and the family breathed more easily.

Deputy Chief Simmons explained: "It may be difficult to trace at the countries of origin for these dolls because doll parts are often sold in one country but actually made up into the finished product in another land."

"For example the dolls we have here have a Sutton, England, label but they also say 'Imported from Poland'."

"It's quite possible the faces were sent to England and the dolls made up there."

Harbor Rescue by Boy

Boots Lost, Pal Saved

A 12-year-old foster child jumped fully clothed off the Johnson Street Bridge Friday afternoon to save a drowning friend.

The boy, Ricky Thynne, was fishing with his friend David Walsh, 12, of 2602 Wark, when David slipped and fell about 10 feet into the cold water. Ricky, who is living with his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Hanna, 1013 Esquimalt, never hesitated when he saw his friend struggling and going under twice with the weight of his jacket.

Although Ricky has never had swimming lessons, and the murky water was more than 10 feet deep, he jumped in, heavy rubber boots and all.

In the effort to push and drag his friend to the wharf, where the two were helped by onlookers, Ricky lost his new boots.

Mrs. Hanna said that an anonymous man in a Volkswagen car drove the two boys home, where they were reported Friday night in bed and none the worse for the experience.

"My husband and I would like to thank this man very much," Mrs. Hanna said.

Mrs. Hanna said that the incident was ironic. "Both boys, who have picked up a few rudiments of swimming, had intended to have proper lessons at the YMCA early in the New Year."

Workers, Builders Accept Ban If Realistic Control Enforced

By GEORGE INGLIS

B.C. labor and construction officials were in accord Friday in accepting the philosophy of the provincial ban on overtime, providing it is realistically administered.

Premier Bennett called the signals last September when he announced the government would limit the working week to 44 hours—now it is up to quarterback deputy minister of labor William Sands and his backfield to handle the ball.

It is up to Mr. Sands and his staff to decide whether applications for permits to exceed the regular working week should be granted.

B.C. Federation of Labor president E. L. Staley, representing 126,000 workers in the province, is confident "Mr. Sands and his staff will try conscientiously to do a job."

Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C. president Michael Griffin said "the responsibility for its success lies with the government, through its Crown Corporation, the B.C. Hydro."

B.C. Hydro president Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said, "we are continuing discussions with the Industrial Relations Board on specifics of the Peace River project."

From labor's standpoint, Mr. Staley said, "we in the carpenters' union have had considerable experience with overtime. It must be looked at practically and with understanding."

Sometimes It Makes Sense

In isolated jobs it makes sense to allow overtime to a certain extent, he said.

"A skilled tradesman is better off in a populated centre if he is able to work 40 hours only," Mr. Staley said. "There must be higher wages or one day overtime per week to attract skilled men to out-of-the-way jobs."

"Men should be permitted to work two weeks back-to-back and then go outside to visit their families—this is the practical application of overtime."

Mr. Staley said he does not fear the possible consequences of an unrealistic set of values being stimulated by overtime pay for men in isolated jobs.

"They make their money while they can, then come outside and spend their time with their families," he said.

Mr. Griffin had a slightly different slant on overtime pay, especially when it resulted in a laborer netting $1,005 for two weeks' work—an example he cited.

"As responsible citizens we must feel this is going to spoil worthwhile workers," he said.

Mr. Griffin concurred with Mr. Staley, that circumstances alter cases. In cases of road paving, grading, and other jobs where climatic conditions may lay men off for a period, exceptions should be made, he said.

Dr. Keenleyside said deputy minister Sands had already acknowledged the need for exceptions in such instances.

Mr. Griffin said he felt the success of the program would depend on the Hydro projects, and the manner in which they comply.

He said the contractors' association intends to live with the program for a month, study its operation and prepare a brief outlining areas of difficulty.

Or Count Legs, Divide by Two

10,000 Robins — Right!

It is possible to count 10,000 robins, even if they are in flight.

David Stirling, who led members of the Victoria Natural History Society on their annual Christmas bird count, Friday confirmed the figures.

Some patients in the Veterans' Hospital wrote in a letter to the Colonist:

"Maybe they (the bird-watchers) lined up the Red Coats and got them to number off from the left."

Mr. Stirling explained that experienced birdwatchers can tell a flock of 10, 50 or 100 birds when they see them.

The count was made on that basis and it's probably accurate to within 5,000 of the total 50,000, he said.

He said the purpose of the bird counts is to get an idea of the trends in population over the years.

If the robin population, for example, skidded from 10,000 this year to 1,000 at Christmas, 1967, it would be intuitively obvious that the species is in trouble, said Mr. Stirling.

The 10,000 robins were among 55,000 birds counted this year. They represented 128 species.

The annual census, said Mr. Stirling, could be described as an "educated guess" but, looked at over the years, the idea of watching population trends makes sense.

Swearing-In Tuesday

Swearing-in ceremonies for new Victoria aldermen will be held Tuesday morning with the 1967 inaugural meeting of city council in the afternoon.

Taking the oath of office before Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton at 10:15 a.m. in the Law Courts will be Ald. Percy Frampton, Ald. Cecil Stewart, Hugh Ramsay and Lloyd Clarkson.

Burgess

The gentle rumble of plodding feet will be heard Monday afternoon as Art Burgess leads a party of hardy YMCA members on a four-mile run.

Assembly time is 2 p.m. at the Y, then it's off to Clover Point and back, if possible.

Hearty Mr. Burgess is certain the miniature marathon will dispel the holiday cobwebs. His members are not so sure.

So far three stalwarts have promised to turn out for the trotathon.

Car Hits Woman

An elderly woman was knocked down by a car on Pandora near Chambers Friday night, and is reported in only fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Margaret Cornish, 63, of 1156 Pandora, received head injuries and possible other multiple injuries when she was struck by the car being driven by Leonard Scheider, of Ladner.

The accident happened just before 5 p.m. The victim of the mishap was wearing dark clothing, police said.

Sidney Chairman Mayor on Sunday

Sidney village chairman Arthur Freeman will become mayor of the town of Sidney on Sunday, Jan. 1.

The change of status was made on a population basis.

The municipal officers department recommends the change to town status when the population is between 2,500 and 5,000. Sidney's population is now 3,100.

The letters patent were received in Sidney last week, and to mark the change a banquet will be held in the Trevelyan at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 3.

The banquet will be preceded by a brief council meeting, when the letters patent will be read. Guest of honor at the banquet will be Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: The letter about those wonderful teen-agers who helped a mother entertain a restless three-year-old child on a cross-country train trip brought back one of my fondest memories.

Eighteen years ago I was travelling by train from Oregon to the Midwest. I had a three-year-old boy and an infant to care for, and I had my hands full. Four sailors noticed my plight. They took over the three-year-old completely. One sailor had a harmonica and the youngster was intrigued by it. They treated the child to dinner and to lunch. One of the sailors held the baby for me — said he had an infant the same age at home and it was a real treat for him.

My son is 21 years old now, but he remembers that trip to this day. He even recalls that when he spilled some potato chips, the sailors would not let him eat them off the floor.

In our rapidly moving society we fail to give credit to the thoughtful and kind people in the world. Thank you for printing letters that give them a well-earned pat on the back once in a while. It's refreshing to read about something besides problems for a change. — B.J.J.

Dear B.J.J.: And it's good to write about something besides problems for a change. Thank you for writing.

Mrs. Child and Mrs. Breen were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. W. Mathewson as Santa distributed the gifts from the Christmas tree. Following

May I suggest that the same feminine wiles that attracted her beloved during courtship never lose their appeal? A male rarely seduces a female — it's usually the other way around. There is nothing undignified in enticing a husband.

I frequently notice that the problems you write about are the same problems I hear about. And have you noticed that the wife who complains about her husband's inadequacies and faults rarely blames herself when he loses interest?

Dear Ann Landers: I am an Episcopalian clergyman who happily admits that I have used your writing as a basis for some sermons.

Dear Sir: Your parishioners are fortunate. In addition to spiritual guidance they are getting some down-to-earth homey hints on living. Bravo!

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter who is in her early 20s is happily married to a nice young man the same age.

Our concern is this: Both our daughter and our son-in-law are grossly overweight and out of shape. She loves to cook fattening foods and when they eat out they both order with no regard to quantity or caloric content.

Recently our son-in-law suggested driving 25 miles for barbecued ribs at 11:30 p.m. My husband made a remark about their love for food. Our daughter was miffed and snapped, "Eating is one of the great joys of life. We don't see any point of denying ourselves."

Please comment. — MRS. X.

Dear Mrs. X: You don't say how much overweight these two are, but I get the picture.

Gluttony is a sin. If these two fail to see the point perhaps a physician will one day explain it to them.

P.S. Has your son-in-law tried to buy life insurance lately?

Also, earlier this month, members joined with members of Xi Nu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, with their husbands and escorts, for the annual Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Thomson on Wende Road. Special guests

Heirloom Pendant Fulfills 'Something Old' Tradition

Margaret Louise Dawson became the bride of Mr. James Thomas Taylor at a pretty wedding in Oak Bay United Church.

Rev. Alexander Calder officiated at the evening ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Dawson, 680 Victoria Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Taylor, 7112 Brentwood Avenue, Brentwood Bay.

The church was decorated in the festive theme for the occasion. During signing of the register Mrs. W. A. Buchanan sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an exquisite sheath gown of sonesta complemented by a coat of lace fashioned with a jewelled neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Her tiered veil of silk illusion misted from a dainty headress of organza roses. For "something old" she wore a cameo pendant which belonged to her great-grandmother. She carried a traveller bouquet of gardenias and yellow freesias.

Mrs. L. S. Colby, the bride's sister, and Mrs. G. Kattan, as senior attendants were in blue and gold brocade. Miss Cathy Dawson, the bride's younger sister, was junior bridesmaid.

She wore a blue pearl de sole gown. The attendants all carried shower bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The festive theme was carried out in the decorations at the Uplands Golf Club for the reception. Mr. Thomas Watkins proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon trip to Mt. Hood, Ore., the new Mrs. Taylor wore a pink tweed three-piece suit which she made herself. Her accessories were black.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home at Brentwood Bay.

Mr. Bruce Sanson was best man. Ushering were Mr. Brock Macdonald, Mr. Russell Leach and Mr. Bryan Dawson, bride's brothers.

The festive theme was carried out in the decorations at the Uplands Golf Club for the reception. Mr. Thomas Watkins proposed the toast to the bride.

Famed Woman Broadcaster Now Attending University

STREETSVILLE, Ont. (CP)

A 75-year-old woman who kept 1,500,000 Canadians glued to the radio every time she spoke into the microphone says women broadcasters in Canada are in a "deplorable situation."

Inimitable Kate Aitken, better known as radio's Mrs. A., knows what she is talking about. She broke a cross-Canada link in June, 1957, when she retired without explanation to her regular radio listeners.

Asked why, she told a reporter at that time: "Just say I'm unpredictable, I never did have any business sense, I'm probably making a mistake."

She dropped a career which spanned 25 years and took her 2,000,000 miles through 54 countries.

Mrs. Aitken is still keenly interested in the business of newsgathering and future opportunities for women broadcasters throughout the world.

She says women broadcasters in Canada have as keen a sense of news value as men, if not a keener one.

"They have a more intuitive sense of values which helps in the evaluation of news and how it affects not one individual but the whole family of humanity."

"But the basic issue is that no woman fits in with the back-room boys — she's out of place, out of context and they have no sympathy with her."

"You can beat it in two ways: by an intelligent approach or by being as rowdy as the boys, and that's out."

The hardships of being a woman in a man's world don't seem to have taken the fun out of her long career. "I enjoyed every moment of it and I'm still enjoying it," she said.

A devoted grandmother to nine youngsters, she continues to be active in a wide variety of interests, managing even to turn retirement into a career.

Up at 7 every morning, she first scans the newspapers and then devotes the morning to writing. Her current topic is "Canadian etiquette — extremely interesting because it has changed so."

This fall she returned to university and now she spends each afternoon working on material for a course on a contemporary novel. "I went back because I love writing."

So far, she has about 50 books to her name. "And I love to learn."

Each Saturday she treks to the nearby South Peel Hospital to distribute reading material to the bed-ridden as a member of the women's auxiliary.

One of seven children of a Beeton, Ont., storekeeper, she grew up in a community where the library, church, the skating rink and the dance club meant a great deal. Because all the store clerks lived in her parents' home, there were "about 25 of us at every meal."

"I was really born with a mixing spoon in my hand."

The writing bug first appeared when 10-year-old Kate started to write ads for her father's store in the local paper.

The start of her broadcasting career merely happened. A flour firm had hired her to be a Maritimes to conduct cooking courses and while there the women's commentator for the local radio station broke her leg.

"There was no one to do the broadcast. I was in the middle of demonstrating seven-minute icing, but they sent a car down for me and I did the broadcast. It all came so quickly that I just continued with the icing recipe."

Returning to Toronto, Mrs. Aitken started regular broadcasting over station CFRB.

Her home at Streetsville, a village 25 miles west of Toronto, overlooks woods and a brook. A blanket of snow makes the 8-acre property look like a Christmas card. In summer, the gardens are full of bloom.

At the business meeting it was reported by finance chairman Mrs. A. Glenday that the UCW met their $4,075 allocation. A number of donations also made included $50 to the United Church Home for Girls, $40 to the John Howard Society, $15 to the Union College auxiliary, $40 to the Alcohol Research and Education Council, $25 to Canadian Mental Health, $5 to the John Milton Society and $25 to the Thomas Crosby Mission boat.

Mrs. J. P. Howell gave a report on the 8th Northwest International Mission Conference held in Willamette University at Salem, of which she was a delegate.

Following a box luncheon the ladies adjourned to the chapel where Mrs. M. Fowler, wife of the associate minister, gave an inspiring message. Mrs. R. B. Barendsen and Mr. Robert Hubbard were the soloists.

Following their wedding in St. Luke's Anglican Church, Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Richard Spooner left on a honeymoon trip through the provincial interior and Banff to Moose Jaw, Sask., where they will be making their new home.

The bride, former Julie Deane Taylor, is the daughter of Mrs. Esther Taylor, 2330 Cook Street, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Spooner, 2530 Fernwood Road. The church was decorated with arrangements of red poinsettias for the service at which officiated, S. W. Taylor gave his granddaughter in marriage.

As the couple signed the register, Miss Ursula Bruch, Regina, sang "O Perfect Love."

Pearls and rhinestones outlined the scalloped edges of the lace jacket topping the bride's gown of pearly du rose. A full lace train swept back from the empire waistline of the gown, made by her mother and hand-appliqued by the bride. Her bouffant veil of illusion net misted softly from a crystal tiara. White roses with dark green accents, formed her bouquet and her only jewelry was the groom's gift of a pearl necklace.

Matching empire line gowns of emerald green velvet were worn by maid of honor Miss Jill Taylor, the bride's sister, and bridesmaid, Mrs. Verne Laubourne. The junior attendants, bridesmaid Kathleen Spooner and flower girl Janine Spooner, the groom's sisters were in similar gowns, with white lace trim accenting the empire waistlines.

Best man was Larry Corbett. Ushering the guests were Gary Baucorn, Bill Nelson and Richard Foster.

Yellow rosebuds topped the married wedding cake, made by A. Plewzykowski, which centred the head table at the reception following in Holyrood House. Lorne Edinger proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon trip to Mt. Hood, Ore., the new Mrs. Taylor wore a pink tweed three-piece suit which she made herself. Her accessories were black.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home at Brentwood Bay.

A Skull Brought From Sarawak

By EILEEN LEABOYD

This dark-eyed, soft-spoken girl was the last person in the world one would imagine carrying a skull around as a souvenir.

But Miss Barbara Geddes, who has just returned from a two-year stint in Sarawak, Borneo, did bring back a head in the finest old Dyak head-hunting tradition.

"Well, what sort of head is it?" I asked her, thinking of shrunken South American trophies seen in museums.

"Oh, just a regular skull."

"But what do the people of Borneo do with them?"

THEY'RE THERE

"Well, they leave them hanging in the head-house," she said. It turns out Barbara does not have a head-house, and she found her skull on an innocent walk up a Malaysian mountain with some school children.

"There was quite a pile of them. We each took one."

The Dyaks have long been discouraged from headhunting, however. Barbara thinks the "charm" of heads she and the children found were Japanese and probably the more-or-less honest spoils of the Second World War.

FOR CUSO

Miss Geddes was in Sarawak for CUSO — the Canadian University Services Overseas, which is akin to the American Peace Corps.

CUSO, Miss Geddes explained, is not a government agency, but is run by all Canadian universities, who finance it and sponsor it.

Each university has a CUSO committee which is responsible for raising money and interviewing volunteers. Aim is to get people with training to help development of poorer countries overseas in field of teaching, nursing, agriculture, medicine, law and community development.

Barbara Geddes has a sound background of such training which includes graduation from Victoria High School, Victoria College, and a teaching certificate from UBC in history, political science and commerce.

Miss Barbara Geddes

Before applying for CUSO, she had worked in the English department at UBC, for the National Film Board in Montreal, and taught history at Queen Margaret's, Duncan.

TO KUCHING

Miss Geddes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Geddes, 1068 Tolmie, left Victoria for Malaysia September 1964, with eight CUSO volunteers on an RCAF flight which took them to Kuching via Singapore.

To her amazement, the new school she was to teach in had as the principal a man from Victoria — Mr. Colin Henderson.

Mr. Smith was there on the Colombo Plan, which is government-run.

Her pupils were mostly Dyak with some Malays and some Chinese. She taught in the secondary division, Forms 1-4 (Grades 7 to 10) and loved every minute of it.

CLEVER THIRD

"The children who get into the secondary school are the top third out of primary, so they are clever children. I was most impressed with them."

She went on to explain most of the children of Malaysia are so anxious to learn that disciplinary problems are almost unknown.

Most of the teachers in the school were European, a few Indian, and the remainder Chinese. Miss Geddes had no problems with food as the Chinese cook went out of his way to prepare European food; the school had its own electricity and a water purification system.

GREAT DIGNITY

"I was extremely happy there, and I was sorry when my two-year term was up. The Dyaks particularly are delightful people with great dignity."

Miss Geddes said she found there were usually about 6,000 Australian, English and Indian Gurkha troops in the area to deal with the threat of Sukarno. The soldiers were most helpful in building new schools, laying out playgrounds, she added.

For Miss Geddes, her sojourn in Sarawak was undoubtedly a great adventure and a labor of love, but added to the joys of the trip was the $100 a month paid by CUSO.

SEALED TO LEVEL

"It may not sound like a great salary, but in Sarawak it was a more than adequate wage. Most CUSO jobs are salary-related to the level of the country."

"However, as you can imagine it is not a way to get rich, so now I'm job hunting."

Barbara Geddes arrived back in town the day before Christmas.

Golden Wedding Marked

Tuesday was a "red letter" day for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Skuce, who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

The couple and their many friends met at the Princess Mary Restaurant for a dinner party that evening and then gathered in their home at 1512 Bay Street. They received a number of letters of congratulations and a cable from relatives in Birmingham, England.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Skuce are from Glengarriff, Eire, and in 1910 Mr. Skuce homesteaded in the Tramping Lake area of Saskatchewan. He and Mrs. Skuce were married on Dec. 27, 1916, in Landis, Sask., with Rev. Trevor Williams officiating at the service. They settled in the Paynton and Maidstone districts of Saskatchewan where Mr. Skuce farmed for several years.

They moved to Saskatoon, and shortly after the Second World War began, Mr. Skuce joined the Royal Canadian Navy Volunteer Reserve with which he served until his discharge in 1945.

He was on the staff of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in Saskatoon until his retirement in 1962, when the couple came to Victoria.

Guests from Out-of-Town

Guests from out-of-town at the recent wedding of Jean Marion Dark and Mr. Richard Leslie Buxton in St. John's Anglican Church were Mr. and Mrs. James Albrecht, and Jack, Bob and Ken, Mrs. Emily Fairbairn, all of Comox; Mr. and Mrs. E. Heibert, Qualicum Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Carey, Courtenay; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hart, Mrs. P. Richardson with Marla, Judy and Michael, North Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buxton, Queen Charlotte Islands.

Holiday with Parents

Miss Alix and Miss Adrienne Esselmont have spent the festive season with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Esselmont, 3180 Rutledge Street, Adrienne, a high school teacher in Ottawa will visit in the city until Jan. 2.

Here for Wedding

Here for the wedding of Margaret Louise Dawson and Mr. James Thomas Taylor in Oak Bay United Church were Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Colby and family, White Rock, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rieken, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Karran, Mr. Bruce Sanson, Miss Barbara Sanson, all of Vancouver; Miss Lynne Colby, New Westminster; Miss Pam Heycock, Banff, Alta; Mr. Murray Hager, Hardisty, Alta.

President's Wife Named To Best-Dressed List

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon Johnson has been named to the women's international best-dressed list, the first time she has made it. Also for the first time daughter Lynda Bird was among the contenders.

Princess Stanislas Lee Radziwill topped the fashionable dozen for 1966 although last year she couldn't muster enough votes to make the list. She is the sister of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who made the list so often she now is in the fashion hall of fame.

This year the committee of fashion editors which polls the industry and compiles the list also elevated Mrs. Kennedy's mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph F. Kennedy, to the hall of fame after placing her five times in the top dozen.

The youngest international fashion plate and No. 1 on the list last year, American society figure Mrs. Carter Amanda Burden, was second this year. The 23-year-old brunette beauty is the daughter of Mrs. William Paley, also in the hall of fame.

Mrs. Jason Roberts, Jr. (Lauren Bacall) was third. The husky-voiced actress is devoted to Norman Novel's clothes.

Mainbocher is the long-standing favorite designer of that one-time poor little rich girl, Gloria Vanderbilt, now Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, who has fourth spot.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson among best-dressed

Fifth berth was given to Mrs. Johnson. She has trimmed down to a size 10, "a perfect model's figure," said Mollie Parris, one of her favorite designers. Mrs. Johnson also wears many Adele Simpson clothes.

Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Neen Vanderbilt, third wife of the millionaire sportsman, won sixth place on the 1966 best-dressed list, presumably by wearing costumes by Pauline Trigere. Mainbocher, Donald Brooks, Linda Hackett and Jacques Tiffieu.

Seventh place went to Mrs. Patrick Dolores Guinness of the U.S., daughter-in-law of banking-rich Mrs. Loel Guinness who also has topped the list in the past.

Last year the Henry Fords' daughters, Charlotte and Anne, shared a spot on the list "because their tastes were so similar." This year eighth place was given to Charlotte Ford Niarchos alone.

Actress Sophia Loren was in ninth place, and, as Mrs. Johnson, a newcomer to the top 12. So were Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, wife of the U.S. ambassador to Spain, in 10th place, and Mrs. Henry Ford II, the former Cristina Austin of Rome, in 11th place.

Rounding out the dozen was Mrs. Harilaos Theodoropoulos, the former Betsy Pickering, wife of the Greek shipping magnate.

Along with Lynda Bird, the also-rans in the elegance sweepstakes were Nancy Dickerson, Washington news commentator; Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Jr., wife of the U.S. ambassador to the Philippines, and Mrs. John Sherman Cooper, wife of the U.S. senator from Kentucky.

With the exception of Princess Radziwill who does not like to use her title, European royalty, usually standard on the list, was absent this year.

Welcome Wagon Luncheon

The Welcome Wagon Club had a Christmas luncheon recently at King Arthur's Round Table. President Mrs. J. F. Christian was assisted by Mrs. R. G. Wilson, Mrs. J. G. Briggs, Mrs. H. Warrington, Mrs. J. R. Wood, Mrs. R. Dewhurst and Mrs. W. W. Morrison in receiving guests.

At the head table with Mrs. Christian were Mrs. C. M. Terry, Mrs. P. Dunne and Mrs. McDermott.

An enjoyable program was arranged by Mrs. J. Flett. Mrs. E. J. McNab of Nanaimo sang two solos and accompanied the carol singing on the piano.

Wages Less Than Vancouver

City Building Figures Will Be Lower in 1967

Building figures for 1966 in Victoria will be lower than 1965's by more than $1,000,000, City Hall officials estimated Friday.

Construction permits totalling $18,247,252 were taken out in the 12 months of 1965, while an estimate to the end of 1966 sets the total at about $17,200,000.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce annual statistical bulletin gives the 1965 figure for Saanich construction as $17,006,040 and that for Oak Bay as $3,865,000.

The chamber report underlined provincial figures, released Thursday, which showed that for the past five years weekly wages in Victoria have been consistently lower than those paid in Vancouver.

Population figures, disclosed by the chamber bulletin, indicated that the Greater Victoria total was 171,967. Victoria population was 56,464 and Saanich, 58,379.

An estimated 10,000 motor vehicle permits will be issued in Victoria by the end of 1966. The total in 1958 was about 50,000.

"Industrial composite" was the biggest labor-employer category in Victoria in 1965. Included in the category was the tourist industry. Manufacturing proper employed 5,532 wood product industries, 1,600 transportation equipment, 3,603 and trade, 5,482.

Post office revenue, generally considered to be barometer of the business life of the city and district, has risen steadily in the past six years. In 1965-66 it was $2,596,756.

The bulletin stated that four-lane trade was enjoying a "steady growth." The current year compared favorably to 1965 and the outlook for 1967 was "very encouraging."

Cheerful Little Thing

By M. V. CHESNUT

So far, in this series of articles on the care of Christmas gift houseplants, I have given instructions on the year-round care of the cyclamen and the poinsettia. Today I think we might discuss a cheerful little pot plant known as the Jerusalem cherry, valued for its pretty berries and its bright green leaves — the blossoms being small and not very attractive.

First, I should tell you it does not come from Jerusalem, nor is it a real cherry. Its native home is the island of Madeira, off the northwest coast of Africa, and it is a member of the potato-tomato-pepper-eggplant family. The attractive little "cherries" are mildly poisonous and, for this reason special care should be taken in homes where there are small children to keep the plant out of reach of inquisitive little fingers.

Every year in the post-Christmas season a number of readers complain that the leaves and berries of a gift Jerusalem cherry are dropping off. Too much warmth is a common cause of this trouble, although too-dry air will set up the same disturbing symptoms. Another common cause of leaf-dropping is a lack of fresh air, for like all members of the tomato family, it is abnormally sensitive to traces of natural gas, coal gas or oil fumes in the air.

The plant is happiest in a room just a little on the chilly side — ideally 55 to 60 degrees — with plenty of fresh air, sunshine during the winter months and light or partial shade in summer. It will probably need daily watering until after it has dropped its berries, but it is best not to give it any plant food while it is carrying berries. During all other periods of active growth, a little houseplant fertilizer can be given in its water every second week. With the air in our homes abnormally dry at this season of the year, it is a good idea to freshen up the leaves and berries daily or often with a fine mist of plain water, shifting the plant to a spot where the window drapes won't get water-spotted from the spray.

The dropping of the berries signals the approach of the Jerusalem cherry's resting period, and at this stage watering should be reduced until the soil is almost but not quite bone dry. A little pruning and shaping is needed during this semi-dormant period, otherwise the plant will become too big and straggly. A good plan is to shorten all branches about half their length.

In the spring, after all danger of frost is past, the plant should be given a summer holiday outdoors, either on a lightly shaded porch or by sinking the pot up to its rim in the ground where it can enjoy some morning sun but with shade during the hottest part of the day.

You can step up the amount and frequency of watering when the plant moves outdoors and, when new growth is observed, resume feeding with liquid fertilizer every second week. If the leaves should turn abnormally pale, try adding a very tiny pinch of Epsom salts to the water once a week until the normal green is restored. The Jerusalem cherry seems to need a little extra magnesium in its diet.

To get berries on your plant again, the little white blossoms must be pollinated. Insects will usually take care of this while the plant is outdoors; indoors, a good method is to make up a small swab of cotton on the end of a toothpick — or use a Q-Tip — and swirl this gently in the centre of each blossom as it opens. This will transfer pollen from one blossom to another, thereby effecting pollination. Another method is to spray the open blossoms with Flit or some similar tomato-setting hormone spray.

The Jerusalem cherry is an easy plant to propagate, either by seeds taken from ripe berries or by taking and rooting slips during the annual pruning.

Thoughts at Large

No economy is more false than economizing on luxuries; to approach a luxury in a niggardly, calculating fashion is already to miss the whole spirit of the thing.

It is foolish and futile to tell children not to lie; being small and defenceless, they will lie, and the most of morality we can instill in them is getting them to guard against lying to themselves, hoping they will outgrow lying to others, while self-deception is a deadly and lifelong disease.

"Patriotism corrupts history," observed Goethe, nearly two centuries ago; today an excess of patriotism is more likely to end history.

Every inanimate object in the world seems to reach out and rub up against an injured finger; and so it is with an injured psyche, which cannot see that sensitivity resides within itself, not in the objects it encounters.

Most men regard their wives the same way they regard their religion: They know which church they belong to, but sometimes wonder wistfully whether some other denominations might not be less demanding.

Because intelligent people generally take a minority viewpoint, some pretentious nits adopt a minority viewpoint in the hope of being mistaken for members of the intelligentsia — and this is what gives minority viewpoints such a bad reputation among the majority.

The ideas we believe in may depend upon our thought-processes; but the ways in which we implement such ideas depend far more upon our temperament.

To a mother, a son is never a fully-grown man; and a son is never a fully-grown man until he understands and accepts this about his mother. Success that comes too soon makes one cocky, and success that comes too late makes one bitter; even in the realm of good fortune, timing is all.

It would take a hundred clerks working for a hundred years to make one mistake as monumental as a computer can make in a thousandth of a second.

The man who dismisses something by saying, "That's only symbolic," has just dismissed the principal element that distinguishes mankind from the whole rest of creation.

The Balanced World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Hollywood 1966 Winner

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Hollywood was the biggest winner in 1966. Jack Valenti, the new "censor," said, in effect, "there is no limit to the type of picture that can be made—as long as there is a label, 'For Mature Audiences Only.'" Hollywood had been handicapped by a set of rules, more than 30 years old and completely out of step with the hard-to-shock attitudes of audiences today.

The winning personalities of the past year are headed by Charlie Chaplin, going on 80, and Frank Sinatra who has passed the half-century mark. Chaplin can't lose with his latest film, The Countess from Hong Kong, chiefly because he brought it in on budget. Unless it is very bad—and we will know whether it is good or bad within a few days—Chaplin has to make money on the movie starring Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando because it cost a mere $3,000,000, which is nothing on today's still spiralling production market. Chaplin's film was started and finished within 12 months—for him, a miracle.

Sinatra's miracle was more personal. At 50 to marry a beautiful 22-year-old beauty called Mia Farrow? I don't think it would have happened if Mia's father, the late director Johnny Farrow, had been alive. But even he would have approved if he could see how happy his daughter seems to be with his still glamorous and more successful than ever husband.

Kim Novak was an all-around loser in 1966. She lost her husband, Richard Johnson. She said she is willing to lose her career that has been dormant anyway for 18 months. And she even lost her Bel Air mansion to the mud of the recent rains.

Julie Andrews was a winner and a loser. She made the separation from husband Tony Walton official—she has known him since her early teens. But, on the bright side of the ledger, Julie consolidated her position as the No. 1 money-maker at the movie box office. It's all in the same package really.

Lana Turner lost her sixth husband in 1966—Bob Eaton moved out of her sumptuous home at Malibu Beach. His predecessors, in this order, were Ardie Shaw, the intellectual clarinetist, Lex (Tarzan) Barker, rich boy Bob Topping, restaurateur Steve Crane, the father of her only child Cheryl, (Lana married and divorced Steve twice), and Fred May, an industrialist.

It seems like Judy Garland is always a loser although she had a bright future when I first met her, a teen-ager, at MGM. This year she lost another husband, and at last reports, her money.

It was a profitable year for Hedy Lamarr. They say she will make around $500,000 from her quite awful book, Ecstasy and Me. And it was a lucky year for Hedy who was acquitted of a shoplifting charge.

Henry Fonda's family made headlines in 1966—not all of them good. Son Peter had some brushes with the law; daughter Jane had the best year of her life—career-wise—Any Wednesday, Hurry Sundown, Barfoot in the Park. Privately, she is apparently happy marriage-wise with Roger Vadim. Papa Henry, a four- (or is it five?) time marriage loser, made a fine choice for the current Mrs. Fonda, ex-airline stewardess Shirley Adams.

The Beatles lost some of their popularity but they have their money to keep them warm... Sybil Burton Christopher made a date to add to the population explosion... While Richard and Elizabeth, as of going to press, made no news at all.

ARTHUR HOPPE Solves All Problems

How Greeps Saved Man

Herewith is another chapter of that standard, unpublished, reference work, A History of the World, 1950-1999. The title of this chapter, How the Greeps Saved Mankind.

All looked hopeless. The Arabs were about to attack the Jews, the Catholics the Communists, the Asians the Occidentals, the Africans the Colonialists and in America nobody much liked anybody.

It was at this critical point in human history that Dr. Schweitzer T. Pettibone, the universally respected anthropologist, discovered the Green People — or, as they came to be sniggeringly called, The Greeps.

"Greeps," wrote Dr. Pettibone in his historic monograph, "have green skin, orange hair, pointy noses, beady eyes and slaverling lips. They come in two sizes: too short and too tall. And they smell bad."

"While their brains are undeniably smaller than ours, they are fiercely clever. And though they are lazy, shiftless and immoral, they are driven by greed to work night and day at cheating their competitors and are thus responsible for all business failures throughout the world.

"They have no pride in themselves nor sense of family responsibility, yet they are exceedingly clanish. Partly this is due to their religion, which secretly seeks to take over all governments, and partly to their political system, which they boast will bury us."

"Born cowards, they will fight at the drop of a hat, but only with knives or other unfair weapons. They are also dirty, stupid, illiterate, incredibly poor, smoke opium, dress flashily, think life is cheap and drive big cars. Their only method of sexual expression is rape and their only form of greeting is: 'I want to marry your sister.'"

"On the plus side, they do have a natural sense of obscenity and a, when treated as equals by a liberal, they will kick his shoes."

The discovery caused a worldwide sensation. In the U.S. 50 states passed laws relegating Greeps to the back of the bus, the balconies of theatres and separate but unequal schools. Country clubs added bylaws excluding Greeps, no real estate deal was signed without an anti-greep covenant and the Christian Anti-Greep Crusade made $10,000,000 in its first year.

"Don't eat like a greep," children were told. And greps were blamed for everything from inducing elm blight to stealing golf balls driven down the middle of the fairway.

Arabs and Jews united to defend the Holy Land from greeps. Catholics and Communists formed a Popular Anti-Greep Front. And Red China joined the newly-re-named United Nations Against Greeps.

At last the human race entered the golden age of tolerance, equality and brotherhood — all men happy, secure and bound to each other in their mutual superiority to the lowly greeps.

So it was that Dr. Pettibone died, revered by all as the founder of anti-greepism. "Look here, doctor," a suspicious young reporter asked him on his deathbed.

"How come nobody's ever seen a greep? I think you invented them."

Dr. Pettibone raised himself on one elbow in righteous indignation. "I no more invented greeps," he said firmly, "than the human race invented niggers, wops, kikes, chinks or mackerel snappers."

And all fair-minded historians agree that is absolutely true.

Tips You Off About Travel

MEXICO CITY — There's a saying down here that if the dust of Mexico falls on your heart, you will always return. This has always been a town I get with.

The tree-filled avenues. The brooding stone gods in the museums.

The Cadillac outside the fine restaurants. The Indians and their burros at the taco stands in the old city the Aztecs called Tenochtitlan.

The great square of Mexico lighted at night. The snowy volcanoes in the clear morning air. And the peso — the one peso share-the-ride taxi — barreling us all down the Reforma. One peso to heaven.

What are the rates of exchange now in Mexico?

The rate is pesos 12.50 for $1 U.S. If you go to a bank, they give you pesos 12.49. And if you cash recklessly at a hotel, they may give you as little as 12.35. Quick figuring into dollars: multiply pesos by .08.

We will visit people who are Mexican living in Mexico. I'd like to be prepared for any special customs...

You shake hands a lot. Men and women. When you are introduced. When you meet on the street. And when you leave each other after meeting.

Women who know each other well kiss on the cheek. Men do a sort of hug and back pat — called an abrazo.

... what we can expect in costs?

I figure roughly that Mexico City costs half what I'd pay for the same in New York. Example: my hotel room, not the swankiest but first-class, is $7.20.

We are planning to be in Hawaii during the summer with three children. Price is something of a factor...

With children along, that three meals out in restaurants each day is what chops you down. You can write Hawaii Visitors' Bureau, Honolulu, for hotels with kitchens. Only one I know at Waikiki is Foster Tower which is excellent. But there must be others, too.

We will arrive in Madrid on a Sunday and, therefore, have only Monday morning and afternoon to shop... Or are stores open Sunday?

No chance in Spain. And not much in the afternoon. At 1 o'clock Spain closes for the lunch. Opens again between four and five. Get out early Monday. The stores you'll want will be in the first eight blocks of the Gran Via.

"I may be doing some work in Europe. Letters, business calls, etc. How is the telephone service between say, Europe and New York?"

Depends much on what part of Europe. From England, they get you through in 15 minutes. But out in the country in Spain — maybe two days. French telephones don't work too well even on local calls. Calls from Switzerland — first-class! Italy — so-so from Rome.

"Where can we write in Tahiti to get Tahitian records?"

You can get them in a record store there. Look for albums that say "produced by Eddie Lund." Or you can write him direct for lists. Eddie Lund, Peapete, Tahiti. He's been producing music out of there for some 25 years.

"A restaurant you mentioned once in London? You described it as a 'jewel box.'"

That's the sparkling little Wheeler's Oyster House with the leaded-glass windows at Duke of York street and Apple Tree Yard. (With an address change for lists. Eddie Lund, Peapete, Tahiti. He's been producing music out of there for some 25 years.)

Revolutionary Rapido Switches Rail Trend

By RAY HEBERT

TORONTO (LAT) — A train with the flair of a plane and a dash of its own revolutionizing travel between Canada's two largest cities.

The CNR's new Rapido has reversed declining interurban patronage, by mixing comfort and convenience with speed that makes it North America's fastest train.

The demand for reservations also makes it the most sought-after way to get from Toronto to Montreal, but it's only a sample of the service the railroad is planning to lure more people back to inter-urban rail travel.

Hitting up to 93 miles an hour, the Rapido makes the 335-mile run between the two cities in four hours and 59 minutes, cutting one hour and 16 minutes off the old running time.

It has borrowed the airlines' bucket-type seats, plush accommodations and other passenger-appealing ideas and is proving, after a year's tryout, there is plenty of life left in city-to-city rail service if it is handsomely marketed and packaged.

Normally the trip takes about seven hours by car. Plane travellers allow three hours or so, but bad weather in the winter often raises havoc with highways and plane schedules.

The railroad estimates its Toronto-Montreal service has increased 20 per cent since it abandoned a pool arrangement with the CPR last year in favor of the Rapido and improved service on other trains.

The Rapido, which has three parlor cars and four coaches, is always 90 to 100 per cent filled. Most of the passengers are travellers who normally make the trip by car.

Automobile traffic accounts for 85 per cent of the travel between Toronto and Montreal, but the Rapido has also dipped into the airlines' share of the 15 per cent left for planes and railroads.

Jubilant about the Rapido's powered passenger trains with a three-hour run from Toronto to Montreal at a top speed of 160 miles an hour.

appeal, the railroad is doubling the trains on the Toronto-Montreal run and extending the service to its Montreal-Quebec City line.

So sure it is on the right track, CN is going after an even larger slice of the interurban travel market. Next April it will start operating new turbine-

Peace Bid Made

LONDON (AP)—Britain launched a New Year's effort for peace in Vietnam Friday night by inviting the United States and North and South Vietnamese governments to a conference on British territory.

The Soviet government was let in on the plan and, by implication, invited to be co-host to the conference or at least to sit in on it. No cognizance was taken of the role China might have in an eventual settlement.

Britain offered the three invited countries help with any necessary preparatory work, which might include a decision on whether the Viet Cong would also be invited.

The British announced the invitations in a short statement and said the text of messages to U.S. state secretary Dean Rusk and the foreign ministers at Saigon and Hanoi will be made public New Year's Eve.

Washington said the British message had not been received Friday night.

There was no immediate response or comment from any of the three governments.

At the state department in Washington, however, an official said the U.S. government has a long-standing policy of readiness to enter discussions.

Truce Goes Bang

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong guerrillas today ambushed two American patrols within two hours of the start of a New Year's cease-fire the Communists said they would honor. In the northern province of Quang Ngai, a South Vietnamese soldier was shot by a sniper as he disarmed a booby trap.

Within 20 minutes of the start of the 48-hour truce, Communists hit an American 1st Infantry Division patrol with automatic weapons 30 miles north of Saigon. UPI correspondent David Stuart-Fox reported the infantrymen suffered light casualties.

TWO-HOUR BATTLE

Reinforcements, armed helicopters and artillery were called in to aid the patrol and a battle ensued as the Reds tried to flee. Fighting between the pursuing Americans and Viet Cong rearguard lasted at least two hours.

Communist casualties were not immediately known. Two hours after the truce began, Red guerrillas attacked a patrol of the 1st Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division about 12 miles southwest of Saigon, a

Franco Fighters Finally Give Up

MALAGA, Spain (AP)—Two brothers who fought for the Republicans in the Spanish Civil War surrendered Friday after hiding for almost 30 years. The three-year conflict ended in 1939.

Police said Juan Hidalgo Espana, 62, and his brother, Manuel, 57, had hidden in the Macharaviaya ranch in the resort area of Marbella on the south coast.

Scientists Question War Use

Sprays Under Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The council of the 105,000-member American Association for the Advancement of Science adopted a resolution Friday expressing concern over long-range consequences of the use of chemical and biological agents in Vietnam.

The resolution did not in so many words mention the war in Vietnam where the United States has systematically used chemical "weed killers" to strip jungles of their leafy cover for Viet Cong forces and to destroy Viet Cong rice crops.

IN MIND

Spokesmen said, however, that the council members obviously had Vietnam in mind. The resolution made it clear the council feels the U.S. military has been using certain agents of warfare without knowing the ultimate consequences.

An early draft noted that "the major users" of biological and chemical agents "on a scale sufficiently large to modify the ecological balance between living things and their environment" are now the governments of this and other countries.

LATER ELIMINATED

This paragraph and a specific allusion to Vietnam were eliminated from the final draft.

The council is the governing body of the AAAS—the world's largest scientific organization — and its action is final. The vote for adoption of the resolution was 125 to 95.

COMMITTEE SOON

Under terms of the resolution, the association's 12-man board of directors will appoint a committee in the near future to study effects of biological and chemical agents which change the environment and the consequences of using such agents in war.

Nude Girl Discovered Choked by Stocking

VANCOUVER (CP) — The nude body of Vicky Spinder, 19, was found Friday in her West End apartment after she was apparently strangled with a stocking.

In a judgment handed down Friday afternoon, the chief justice said the government could not legally appoint retired Judge R. A. Sargent of the county court to sit as a one-man commission, under the terms of the provincial Public Inquiries Act.

Chief Justice Wilson's ruling halts the commission's investigation into the bugging of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada's Vancouver convention.

The Canadian union, which maintains the bugging was authorized by an official of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, launched the action to unseat Mr. Sargent two weeks ago.

LEGALITY GROUNDS

They sought to unseat him on grounds that he was improperly appointed commissioner by the cabinet.

The chief justice described the cabinet order-in-council setting up the commission as "the basest sort of order." He said in the judgment he does not feel the inquiry as it was constituted could serve any useful public purpose.

NOT IN ITS POWER

The cabinet, he said, invalidated its order by giving the commission wide terms of reference that were not in its power to grant.

In addition to investigating the convention bugging, Mr. Sargent was empowered to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Lloyd Craig, president of the Canadian union, in a room close to the one that was wired for sound.

POLICE RULING

Mr. Craig died of an apparent heart attack two days previous to the opening of the convention. Police ruled out foul play in Mr. Craig's death.

The commission had heard evidence from several witnesses, including Weldon (Bud) Graham, a private detective who testified he was paid $250 to wire the convention room by Pat O'Neal, western organizer for the international union.

TO BE HEARD

Still to be heard was testimony from two RCMP security and intelligence officers, implicated by Mr. Graham. He said he took the case after being referred to Mr. O'Neal by the RCMP investigators.

The detective claimed the RCMP was interested in the alleged Communist activities of some members of the Canadian union and that he would not have taken the case otherwise.

Province Plans Rapid Revival

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett said Friday night the government will act immediately to revive the royal commission studying invasion of privacy through use of electronic bugging devices.

He was commenting, in a telephone interview from Kelowna where he is spending the holidays with his family, on a ruling by B.C. Supreme Court Chief Justice J. O. Wilson which voided the government-appointed commission.

The chief justice's ruling left unanswered the question of where the inquiry will go from here but it suggested that the government could appeal his decision, amend its order-in-council to reconstitute the inquiry or pass legislation which would authorize a new probe.

"I was really pleased that the chief justice suggested alternatives and made suggestions how the government should deal with it," said the premier.

"My recommendation to the cabinet would be that they amend the order as soon as possible even though I would not be there, so that we can proceed with this matter forthwith."

The premier said the government should move "quite

Ship 'Going Down'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Liberian freighter with 29 men aboard was reported in "immediate danger" of sinking Friday night in a brutal Atlantic storm, and its captain reported the crew was preparing to abandon ship.

The 423-foot Georgia was reported 460 miles east-southeast of New York City. Two U.S. Coast Guard planes hovered overhead, ready to drop inflatable 25-man life rafts to the battered ship.

The coast guard said the vessel, bound from Irtia to New York, had serious flooding in its No. 1 hold, and was listing badly to port.

The first communique received from the captain said: "Please send us assistance. Anything. Very quickly. In danger of capsizing."

A message several hours later said: "I'm afraid our vessel is going down."

A 572-foot American freighter, the African Neptune, was 30 miles from the Georgia when the first SOS was received. But as it steamed to help, battering

Welder Sparks Freighter Blaze

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A freighter that had 48,000 gallons of fuel oil aboard despite the fact it was being dismantled caught fire in a huge navy shipyard Friday and sent workers and vessels scurrying for safety. There were no reports of injuries.

A welder apparently cut through into a fuel tank on the ship, touching off the blaze. He was last seen running away from the vessel.

Freighter Plucks Five from Yawl

NEW YORK (AP) — A British freighter lowered a small boat into howling winds and mountainous seas and plucked three women and two men from the stricken yawl Petrel Friday.

Five other men volunteered to stay aboard the 70-foot yawl until this morning when a U.S. Coast Guard cutter arrives to take the vessel in tow, the coast guard said.

The freighter Cotswold radioed that all 10 Petrel passengers were in satisfactory condition and that it would stand by through the night.

Stripped of her rigging and sails, the Petrel has been at the mercy of the sea since Thursday night. Her auxiliary engine, pumps and radio are dead. Her crew had to use buckets to toss out the icy water as the wind whipped it in.

Dolls 'Not Dangerous' Says Nanaimo Seller

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — The manager of a department store which has sold six dozen of the controversial inflammable dolls, says the dolls are not as dangerous as indicated.

Duane Townsend, manager of Metropolitan Store, said Friday his firm had sold the Nitro cellulose doll from Poland for several weeks. (See also Page 13.)

He said "too much is being made of the issue."

To prove his point, Mr. Townsend tried to light a doll with a cigarette. "All it did was smoke."

During a doll-burning ceremony Mr. Townsend timed the rate of burning.

that of Dominion fire commissioner R. A. W. Switzer, who said in Ottawa:

"They (dolls) will not ignite from the normal sources of heat found in a home."

While more than 60 have been sold from one store in Nanaimo, only six were turned in to the fire hall.

In one experiment here, the dress of a doll was set on fire. But the hair and the face refused to ignite.

The doll had to be turned onto its side to allow flame to play over the hair and face before they would burn.

Mr. Townsend pointed out although the rate of burning is rapid, almost any material pressurized can be more volatile.

VIEWSPORT

By Red Smith

The general manager of the Green Bay Packers isn't sure, but he says the team may have a new coach next year. The present coach is Vince Lombardi, who was great when he had it, but this year he could win only four games in a row before getting trounced by San Francisco, 21-20, and the general manager has had doubts about him ever since.

To make it worse, the Packers also lost their ninth game of the season, getting creamed by Minnesota, 20-17, and stalled around until the 13th game of a 14-game schedule before wrapping up their second straight Western Division championship, their fifth in seven years. The general manager is an impatient man named Vince Lombardi, and if the coach knows what's good for him he'll whip Dallas for the National League title on Sunday and clobber the American League champions two weeks later.

Seriously, it would not be a shocking surprise if Lombardi were to pack it in as coach when this long season ends—as he says he may—and devote his working hours henceforth to the general manager's job, which involves everything from signing players to making sure the stadium turf is properly watered.

Since January, 1959, he has been doing it all, besides serving as a director of the People's Trust and Savings Bank of Green Bay, a member of the Council for Human Relations (to give his players a laugh), a director of Fordham University, a member of the Citizens' Committee of St. Norbert College, president of the Wisconsin State Health Association, chairman of the Cancer Fund, Dairy Month chairman for the state of Wisconsin, special events co-ordinator for the City of Hope, and star of the Vince Lombardi Show on television.

No Worlds to Conquer

All this raises hell with his golf swing, and two years ago he realized it was time to slow down. So he resigned as a director of the Milwaukee Braves, partly because he was going to vote against the jump to Atlanta and knew that if he did they'd fire him and get somebody who'd vote right.

Now, if his team wins the NFL title again, and goes on to defend the honor of Pete Rozelle in the Super Bowl, he'll have no more worlds to conquer as a coach.

He has already established records unparalleled in the history of pro football, unmatched even by such licensed wonder-workers as George Halas, Curly Lambeau, Steve Owen and Paul Brown.

None of these took over as a rookie without credentials as a head coach in college or post-graduate football, and drove a team to five conference championships and three league titles (it could be four next week) in his first eight years. The verb "drove" is used advisedly, as anybody who knows Vincent Lombardi will realize.

The question is, where would Vince Lombardi, the general manager find a successor to Vince Lombardi, the coach? Who would try to follow his act, especially with the original copyright holder looking over his shoulder?

Vince is a scrupulous man. As a coach he tolerates no interference, and as general manager he would slash his wrists before interfering. And that's just it; he might very well wind up slashing his wrists.

Wants Only Perfection

His wants are simple, merely to win every pre-season exhibition, every game during the season, every post-season game, and every title. Give him that, and he'll ask for nothing else except a lead in every quarter of every game.

He realizes that nobody can have that in pro football, but he has never resigned himself to this fact. If he retired as coach and the Packers' fortune declined, could he resist the urge to step in and set things right? George Halas couldn't, and Halas is not more dedicated to winning than Lombardi.

When a Casey Stengel, a Ralph Houk, or an Allie Sherman takes over a team and the team wins, it is difficult to assign the credit fairly. How much did the leader contribute and how much is he indebted to the playing talents he inherited? With Vince Lombardi there is no such problem.

The team he inherited in 1959 was the soft-bitten pataty of the National League. To re-employ a line already overworked in this space, the Packers of 1959 had overwhelmed one opponent, underwhelmed ten, and whined one.

There were, at the beginning, no major changes of personnel. Using the same tools his predecessor had, Lombardi produced a team that won often more than it lost in his first season (seven-five), took the Western championship in his second, third and fourth, added two league titles, plummeted all the way to second place for two years, then came back for two more championships.

In a case like this, it isn't hard to decide where the credit should go. There was even a time when Vince Lombardi was chosen Italian-American-of-the-Year-in-Wisconsin-sports. You can't get better than that.

Nanaimo Will Get Two Top Shows

NANAIMO — This city is slated to receive an outstanding Centennial Year attraction in 1967.

Canadian folk ballet, Les Feux Follets, has been touring Canada for the past two years. Shortly after its debut in Vancouver in late January, it will play Nanaimo. The date has not been announced.

Another centennial attraction for Nanaimo will be a performance by touring, Holiday Theatre from Vancouver, with a production for children.

PARKSVILLE — 1967 will be ushered in at Parksville with gay parties and dances, including a smorgasbord at the Island Hall at midnight tonight. This event will be held in the main ballroom while a smaller supper dance will take place for hotel guests only in the Victoria ballroom.

Mr. Arrowsmith Branch Legion is also holding a party at the Legion hall commencing at 9 p.m. Gordon Baker is in charge of arrangements. In addition to public functions there are many private parties planned to help bring in Canada's Centennial year.

PORT ALBERNI — Only one small fire has marred the Christmas holiday season in Port Alberni.

Firemen responded to a call at 710 14th Avenue North, where a locked trailer was sending out billows of smoke.

Owner James Jameson told firemen the trailer was not being used and was locked, but that small nine-inch square windows had been left open for ventilation.

Fire Chief Maurice Smith said it appeared some passerby had chucked a butt through the open vent. Since the fire originated directly below one of the openings.

Two mattresses and a sleeping bag were destroyed and part of the interior of the trailer was scorched, but no serious damage resulted.

DUNCAN — A former chief of Malahat, Archie Harry, died at his home at Mill Bay. Born at Malahat in 1911 he moved to Kokishah in 1944, residing there until 1953.

He was a boom man at Malahat booming grounds for 20 years. He was predeceased by his wife, Mary Lena.

He is survived by six daughters: Rose and Norma at home; Mrs. Lillian Jimmy and Mary Anne Harry of Quamichan; Mrs. Sarah Seymour of Cheamus Bay and Mrs. Susanna Edwards of Mill Bay; two brothers, three sisters and several nieces and nephews. Graveside service will be held at Malahat Indian Cemetery Friday.

NANAIMO — A drunken juvenile got sick at the RCMP office. He will be sicker still, but for another reason.

He was ordered to wash RCMP cars every Saturday for a month and is on an 8 p.m. curfew. He was picked up after he was seen staggering on Bastion Street.

PORT ALBERNI — Several Franklin River appointments have been announced by MacMillan Bloedel.

J. T. Trebett, manager of Franklin River Logging Division, has been appointed production manager for Region Three, five logging divisions. New manager for the logging division here is L. K. Barber, manager of Queen Charlotte Logging Division.

NANAIMO — Winners of the Christmas lighting competition were the W. C. Calverley's, 2404 Glenayr, Sheldon Thomson, Cedar, and John S. Stewart, 339 Third.

All three have been winners in the past, but this year first and second places were reversed. Warner Newton, Hub City Kiwanis, said that there were a number of people who had not entered, but could have won a place among the winners.

Sheldon Thomson and his sister Bonnie Thomson, also won awards for the best decorated dove and window. Newton expressed disappointment for the failure of businessmen to enter a commercial lighting display, saying that that should have been given public recognition for the beautiful work they displayed.

"I'm going to try to start sending out letters of commendation to those who have not entered, encouraging them to enter," said Mr. Newton. "There was a remarkable increase in general lighting," he said. The judging was done by Nanaimo Rotary Club.

'They Get Protection for Nothing!'

There Will Be Fire Vote

Dan Campbell has assured residents of a proposed Cowichan fire district they will get a vote on the project.

The Municipal Affairs Minister was commenting on criticism from residents, afraid they would not get a vote on the plan.

Mr. Campbell said residents' comments that his department's methods were either Hitler-like or Communist, "are just plain stupid."

He said he took "the strongest possible exception" to the statements.

Several residents in the area around Cowichan Bay said only the community would get real benefit from the proposed fire district.

One resident said "the matter should be put in a referendum."

Mr. Campbell said Friday "As a matter of fact there will be a vote in this area, because the department has a policy that if only 10 per cent of the ratepayers either request one or even indicate concern, a vote is held."

He said in an area with 100 ratepayers, only 10 must indicate to the department that they object to formation of a district.

The minister pointed out "in the first place, our department did not initiate the district."

"It is making machinery available to a recognized group (volunteer firemen) within the community."

"When a vote is held, it will be up to the ratepayers."

Biggest Houses Give the Least

COWICHAN BAY—The failure of the rich to pay properly for fire service in this area, was one reason for proposed formation of a fire district.

"They are getting protection for nothing," charged Bud McDonald, former fire chief.

He said volunteer firemen have put on fund drives and "we went around to places, some of them $35,000 homes, and all we could get were $2 donations."

Mr. McDonald said each household protected should pay a proper amount.

Ray Ferris, secretary of the firemen's association, said "voluntary donations are not nearly as fair as taxation."

"Unless we get into a more secure form of income, we will have to disband."

Mrs. Vivian Purney, who has worked with the firemen as secretary, said "we had a request from Cherry Point asking if they can come into the district."

She said the firemen have learned fire insurance rates will probably go down if a district is formed.

Bonner

Family Or Region?

By MARIE CADORETTE

COBBLE HILL — Opposition is growing to the idea that the Cowichan district should be part of a regional district.

Many residents believe regional planning, promoted by the provincial government, is a threat to family and community life.

AXE PROBLEM

There have been complaints that such regions are an outlet for anyone with an axe to grind.

President of British Columbia Taxpayers Association George Bonner said regional planning could be one step towards losing "rights of citizenship to vested interests."

FAMILY LIFE

"The need today is for more community planning rather than regional planning," said Mr. Bonner, adding regional planning was not taking sufficient notice of community and family life.

"I do not think it is a progressive move."

"The first thing you know, you will say the whole of Canada should be under one government and they will do away with the smaller governments."

LET'S WAIT

He said the government should wait until it is asked by the people, for a regional district.

"It's a matter of dollar and cents behind the whole thing."

"For instance take School District 65, Cobble Hill area alone, our mill rate was five mills."

LARGE AREA

"Now we have got into a larger assessment area and our taxes have gone up."

"With more people in the area our taxes should go down."

FEW PEOPLE

He said Canada had not the population for regional planning.

"We have not got out of our childhood yet," he said, adding Canada had shown her worth under current legislation.

SMALL TOWNS

He stated regional planning had little to do with small communities.

"Shawnigan Lake, Mill Bay and Cobble Hill have got their anchors for community planning," he said.

"I cannot see what it has to do with these three groups of people."

Harmac Holidays Bring Pipe Job

NANAIMO — A three-year job is almost done.

The twin pipelines that feed water to Harmac mill in Cedar have been slowly replaced.

Each time the mill shuts down the pipe crew cuts in another new section.

They have scheduled three more replacements, on Easter, Labor Day, and sometime in July.

The two lines of eight miles carry water from two different sources for two uses.

One line and its branch lines carries water from wells that is used only for boilers.

The other line carries water from Nanaimo River, and is used for other mill duties, where purity is not so much of a concern.

Welsh Tragedy Island Danger?

A Western Mines official has hinted if mine tailings aren't dumped in Buttle Lake, there could be a repeat of the Aberfan disaster.

President Harold Wright was asked by a shareholder in Vancouver whether alternate methods have been studied for disposal of tailings.

There has been much public protest over the company's plans to dump them in Buttle Lake, in Strathcona Park.

Mr. Wright said "there are two places to dispose of tailings, either in the water or on land. You've seen them around Princeton, and you know what happened in Wales!"

"The safest and best place is a hole 180 feet deep where they may reach the surface in 200 years, if we are still there."

He said Western was in the Park with legal rights.

"It's our park as well as anybody else's and we are anxious to maintain it as a place to live, work and play in. Only 60 days ago you could not get in unless you were rich enough to own your own plane. Now you can drive in on a safe, scenic road."

Fire Halls Put Torch to Dolls

By WILLIAM THOMAS

The incendiary blonde dolls that burst into searing flames on exposure to fire have been turning up in hundreds throughout British Columbia since Fire Marshal Basil Nixon issued his warning Thursday.

So far the inflammable dolls have been found at a number of island centres.

Nanaimo, Victoria, and Port Alberni all report the dangerous toys as having been turned in at fire halls.

They have also been reported at Prince George, Vancouver, North Vancouver, Delta, Burnaby, Kelowna, Trail and Dawson Creek.

Phone calls jammed both incoming lines at Victoria's Yates Street Fire Hall all day Friday as worried parents sought advice on incendiary dolls.

Deputy Fire Chief Eric Simmons said 31 of the highly inflammable dolls were turned in at his office Friday but he said he expects many more.

Mr. Simmons said "They have been coming in from all parts of Greater Victoria and some have been bought right here in Victoria."

In a test carried out at the fire hall Thursday the deputy chief demonstrated how the faces of these dolls burst into flames on contact with fire.

He explained the dolls, of European manufacture, had faces made of nitro cellulose, a highly inflammable compound.

A number of the parents who checked at the fire hall Friday reported their children had been sent the dolls as Christmas gifts.

Mr. Simmons said "We found a retail outlet in the city today which had sold 56 of these dolls and still had 52 in stock which were being sent back to the distributor."

In an effort to make certain no other dolls of this type are on sale in the Victoria area fire department inspectors toured stores again Friday.

Two of the danger dolls, of Polish manufacture were turned in at the Port Alberni fire hall for destruction.

Fire Chief Maurice Smith said both had been mailed from the U.S. as presents. The fire chief has issued an appeal to all Alberni Valley residents to bring in suspect toys for examination.

The Victoria fire department said some of the dolls brought in for checking and found dangerous were as much as five years old.

Mr. Simmons said that while there were style and dress changes they were all basically the same inflammable doll. They all had the same type of incendiary nitro cellulose faces and inflammable hair.

Mrs. Hugh Smith, 2315 Central, said she had found one of the dolls under her child's crib near a heat vent. She said

"It may not have been dangerous but it certainly gave me the creeps thinking what might have happened." It was turned in at the fire hall for destruction and the family breathed more easily.

Deputy Chief Simmons explained "It may be difficult to trace all the countries of origin for these dolls because doll parts are often sold in one country but actually made up into the finished product in another land."

"For example the dolls we have here have a Sutton, England, label but they also say imported from Poland."

"It's quite possible the faces were sent to England and the dolls made up there."

Who Wants a Prize?

A $300 annual scholarship has been available to B.C. Indians for more than two weeks, but so far no applications have been made.

Trustees of the Mungo Martin Memorial Trust sent out applications almost three weeks ago to 100 Indian bands throughout the province.

Chairman Gerald S. Andrews said Thursday no applications had been made.

The award, to one person or several, depending on what the five trustees decide, comes from the $6,000 raised by public subscription in Victoria recently to the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society.

It will cover education, vocational guidance, and the opportunity to further art and craft skills.

ONE AWARD

The $300 is interest from the invested $6,000 principal.

The board may decide one year to make only one award, or to even let it lapse to the following year to provide a greater amount, said Mr. Andrews, surveyor-general of the lands and forests department.

The two other principal trustees are R. J. McInnes, director of the Indian Advisory Act in the provincial secretary's department, and Brian Travers-Smith, artist and investment consultant.

Applications for the scholarships are to be received by the Provincial Museum in Victoria.

FAMOUS

Chief Martin, of the Kwakiwut tribe, died at 83 in Victoria, on Aug. 16, 1962.

He was famous for his carving ability, as an exponent of Indian art and craft in all its forms, as a philosopher and for his efforts to reactivate interest in Indian folklore among his own people as well as the white population.

Youth Pleads Guilty

NANAIMO — Gilles Gerrard Joseph Nepper, 16, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to assault with intent to do bodily harm.

He had been raised from juvenile court Thursday. He was remanded further to Tuesday for sentencing.

He was one of seven who attacked Terje Jensen, a Norwegian sailor, Dec. 12.

Jensen had been lured into a secluded area of Robbins Park, by four girls, then attacked by Nepper and two others.

Peace Bid Made

LONDON (AP)—Britain launched a New Year's effort for peace in Vietnam Friday night by inviting the United States and North and South Vietnamese governments to a conference on British territory.

The Soviet government was let in on the plan and, by implication, invited to be co-host to the conference or at least to sit in on it. No cognizance was taken of the role China might have in an eventual settlement.

Britain offered the three invited countries help with any necessary preparatory work, which might include a decision on whether the Viet Cong would also be invited.

NOT RECEIVED

The British announced the invitations in a short statement and said the text of messages to U.S. state secretary Dean Rusk and the foreign ministers at Saigon and Hanoi will be made public New Year's Eve. Washington said the British message had not been received Friday night.

There was no immediate response or comment from any of the three governments.

At the state department in Washington, however, an official said the U.S. government has a long-standing policy of readiness to enter discussions.

Within 20 minutes of the start of the 48-hour truce, Communists hit an American 1st Infantry Division patrol with automatic weapons 30 miles north of Saigon. UPI correspondent David Stuart-Fox reported the Infantrymen suffered light casualties.

TWO-HOUR BATTLE

Reinforcements, armed helicopters and artillery were called in to aid the patrol and a battle ensued as the Reds tried to flee. Fighting between the pursuing Americans and Viet Cong rearguard lasted at least two hours.

Communist casualties were not immediately known.

Two hours after the truce began, Red guerrillas attacked a patrol of the 1st Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division about 12 miles southwest of Saigon, a

Franco Fighters Finally Give Up

MALAGA, Spain (AP)—Two brothers who fought for the Republicans in the Spanish Civil War surrendered Friday after hiding for almost 30 years. The three-year conflict ended in 1939.

Police said Juan Hidalgo Espana, 62, and his brother, Manuel, 57, had hidden in the Macharaviaya ranch in the resort area of Marbella on the south coast.

Both brothers said they had committed no crimes, political or otherwise, but went into hiding in 1937 when Gen. Francisco Franco's Nationalist troops took Malaga from the Republicans. Both said they had been afraid to come out from hiding. Police referred them to judicial authorities.

Earlier this month, Franco granted a general amnesty to his civil war opponents.

B.C. BUGGING PROBE STOPPED BY JUDGE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief Justice J. O. Wilson of the B.C. Supreme Court ruled Friday the B.C. government exceeded its authority in appointing a royal commissioner to investigate the electronic bugging of a pulp union's convention last month.

In a judgment handed down Friday afternoon, the chief justice said the government could not legally appoint retired Judge R. A. Sargent of the county court to sit as a one-man commission, under the terms of the provincial Public Inquiries Act.

Chief Justice Wilson's ruling halts the commission's investigation into the bugging of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada's Vancouver convention.

The Canadian union, which maintains the bugging was authorized by an official of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, launched the action to unseat Mr. Sargent two weeks ago.

LEGALITY GROUNDS

They sought to unseat him on grounds that he was improperly appointed commissioner by the cabinet.

The chief justice described the cabinet order-in-council setting up the commission as "the baldest sort of order." He said in the judgment he does not feel the inquiry as it was constituted could serve any useful public purpose.

NOT IN ITS POWER

The cabinet, he said, invalidated its order by giving the commission wide terms of reference that were not in its power to grant.

In addition to investigating the convention bugging, Mr. Sargent was empowered to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Lloyd Craig, president of the Canadian union, in a room close to the one that was wired for sound.

POLICE RULING

Mr. Craig died of an apparent heart attack two days previous to the opening of the convention. Police ruled out foul play in Mr. Craig's death.

The commission had heard evidence from several witnesses, including Weldon (Bud) Graham, a private detective who testified he was paid $250 to wire the convention room by Pat O'Neal, western organizer for the international union.

TO BE HEARD

Still to be heard was testimony from two RCMP security and intelligence officers, implicated by Mr. Graham. He said he took the case after being referred to Mr. O'Neal by the RCMP investigators.

The detective claimed the RCMP was interested in the alleged Communist activities of some members of the Canadian union and that he would not have taken the case otherwise.

Province Plans Rapid Revival

By JACK FRY

Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett said Friday night the government will act immediately to revive the royal commission studying invasion of privacy through use of electronic bugging devices.

He was commenting in a telephone interview from Kelowna where he is spending the holidays with his family, on a ruling by B.C. Supreme Court Chief Justice J. O. Wilson which voided the government-appointed commission.

The chief justice's ruling left unanswered the question of where the inquiry will go from here but it suggested that the government could appeal his decision, amend its order-in-council to reconstitute the inquiry or pass legislation which would authorize a new probe.

"I was really pleased that the chief justice suggested alternatives and made suggestions how the government should deal with it," said the premier.

"My recommendation to the cabinet would be that they amend the order as soon as possible even though I would not be there, so that we can proceed with this matter forthwith."

The premier said the government should move "quite

Ship 'Going Down'

Welder Sparks Ship Holocaust

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)—A freighter that had 48,000 gallons of fuel oil aboard despite the fact it was being dismantled caught fire in a huge navy shipyard Friday and sent workers and vessels scurrying for safety. There were no reports of injuries.

A welder apparently cut through into a fuel tank on the ship, touching off the blaze. He was last seen running away from the vessel.

Freighter Plucks Five from Yawl

NEW YORK (AP)—A British freighter lowered a small boat into howling winds and mountainous seas and plucked three women and two men from the stricken yawl Petrel Friday. Five other men volunteered to stay aboard the 70-foot yawl until this morning when a U.S. Coast Guard cutter arrives to take the vessel in tow, the coast guard said.

The freighter Cotswold radioed that all 10 Petrel passengers were in satisfactory condition and that it would stand by through the night.

Stripped of her rigging and sails, the Petrel has been at the mercy of the sea since Thursday night. Her auxiliary engine, pumps and radio are dead. Her crew had to use buckets to toss out the icy water as the wind whipped it in.

Dolls 'Not Dangerous' Says Nanaimo Seller

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — The manager of a department store which has sold six dozen of the controversial inflammable dolls, says the dolls are not as dangerous as indicated.

Duane Townsend, manager of Metropolitan Store, said Friday his firm had sold the nitro cellulose doll from Poland for several weeks. (See also Page 12.)

He said "too much is being made of the issue."

To prove his point, Mr. Townsend tried to light a doll with a cigarette. "All it did was smoke."

During a doll-burning ceremony Mr. Townsend timed the rate of burning.

"It took five seconds to ignite. A book of matches is more dangerous," he said.

This opinion concurred with that of Dominion fire commissioner R. A. W. Switzer, who said in Ottawa:

"They (dolls) will not ignite from the normal sources of heat found in a home."

While more than 60 have been sold from one store in Nanaimo, only six were turned in to the fire hall.

In one experiment here, the dress of a doll was set on fire. But the hair and the face refused to ignite.

The doll had to be turned onto its side to allow flame to play over the hair and face before they would burn.

Mr. Townsend pointed out

Nude Girl Discovered Choked by Stocking

VANCOUVER (CP)—The nude body of Vicky Spinder, 19, was found Friday in her West End apartment after she was apparently strangled with a stocking.

Police said the girl, formerly of Kamloops, was probably killed sometime during the night.

The room was described as neat. There were no apparent signs of a struggle.

The body was found by the landlord who checked the suite after noticing the girl had not gone to work, police said.

Police refused to release further details.
